WOMEN FLIERS FOUND DEAD IN PLANE

ARMY OF JOBLESS MEN ASK AID OF CONGRESS

WRECKED PLANE OF ST. LOUIS WOMEN FOUND ON MOUNTAIN

MRS. RUTH STEWART AND MRS. DEBIE STANFORD LOST DURING FOG

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 7. (AP)—The proposed 5,500-mile flight of two young women aviators from New York to Buenos Aires ended today with the recovery of their bodies from the wreckage of their plane on a mountainside in Southern Pennsylvania.

The women, Mrs. Ruth Stewart, 26, St. Louis, and Mrs. Debbie Stanford, 28, Indianapolis, were killed instantly when their ship became lost in rain and fog and crashed into the heavily wooded slope. The wreckage was sighted early today by fliers from Philadelphia and Harrisburg and ground parties were dispatched at once to recover the bodies.

The plane, which Mrs. Stewart had piloted from Pittsburgh Monday, was found with its nose deeply imbedded in the rainsoaked earth, its wings stripped and fuselage buckled on the desolate mountainside 40 miles due west of this city. The pilot, flying in the rain through low-hanging clouds which obscured the upper half of the higher ridges of the mountains, evidently had lost her way after being separated from a companion plane piloted by Gentry Shelton, St. Louis.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Gentry Shelton of St. Louis, today reported Mrs. Ruth Stewart and Mrs. Debbie Stanford had been killed instantly when their plane crashed on Bowers' mountain late Monday afternoon.

Shelton, who accompanied the women from Pittsburgh in a second plane carrying Mrs. Stewart's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Woerner, said Mrs. Stewart, the pilot of the lost ship, had been crushed by the engine when the ship dived, nose downward, into the rain-soaked mountainside. Mrs. Stanword was caught in the wreckage at the same time.

Shelton, reporting at the Harrisburg airport after a flight with Woerner as a passenger, said he had recognized Mrs. Stewart's red coat in the plane wreckage and

Fifty Killed In Train Wreck Near Moscow

MOSCOW, Jan. 7.—(AP)—At least 50 persons were killed and scores were injured in a train wreck 14 kilometres northwest of Moscow Saturday, it was learned today.

The number of dead was increased by a freight train which plowed through the injured who were lying along a parallel track.

A local six-coach passnger train, heavily packed with passengers, halted at a switch head preparatory to taking a side track on a stretch of double track.

Two following trains crashed into the rear end of the standing train and scattered modies and debris along the right of way, splintering almost all the coaches of the halted train.

As the mangled bodies were pulled from the shattered framework of the cars they were placed along an adjoining track pending the arrival of medical crews from Moscow.

While this work was going on a freight train thundered into the stretch without warning. Before the engineer could sense the situation and apply the brakes his locomotive and several box cars had slashed their way through the victims.

The government placed a censorship on the news in an effort to prevent information reaching the outside world and railway officials declined to answer questions.

Plan For Salary Cuts Tabled by House Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The house expenditures committee today tabled all bills referred to it to cut government salaries.

Four bills had been presented. Three sponsors of the legislation—Representative Shallenberger, democrat, Nebraska; Rich, republican, Pennsylvania, and McGugin, republican, Kansas—testified in support of their proposals.

The committee, however, decided a reduction in purchasing power would have a more harmful effect than a decrease in governmental expenditures.

MISSOURI FARMER RAN AMUCK EARLY THURSDAY IN HOME

KILLS 5 OF HIS CHILDREN, WOUNDS WIFE AND ANOTHER; THEN SUICIDES

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Olive Davenport, 50, killed five of his children with a hammer in their farm home near Patton, Mo., early today, seriously wounded his wife and another child, then killed himself with a shotgun. Davenport apparently went insane. Only one child in the family of nine children was unharmed.

The slayings were discovered about daybreak when neighbors hurried to the house after a 12-year-old Davenport boy had run screaming from the Davenport home seeking assistance.

Sheriff Dorman Elledge of Bollinger county said it was apparent that Davenport had killed the five children by beating them with the hammer and that he had wounded his wife and the sixth child in the same manner.

The hammer, covered with modest country home where the blood and hair was found in the Davenport family, one of the most prominent in the country, had lived for years.

Nearby was Davenport's body, his head torn off by a charge from the shotgun.

Mrs. Davenport and a daughter, both in an extremely grave condition, were brought to a hospital here where physicians said their recovery was doubtful. They had serious head wounds and their bodies were badly bruised.

The dead:

Oliver Davenport, 50; Verda, 10; Clara Fay, 7, Raymond, 5; Louise 3, and Vanita, 10 months.

Wooster Davenport, 12, was the only one of the family to escape.

Slain By Maid

These two boys, George P. Heindel (left) 1, and John Heindel, 4, were the innocent victims of the madness of a maid, who hanged them and then hanged herself in the home of the boys' parents in River Forest, Ill. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Heindel, returned from a bridge party to find that the maid, Mary Roth, had killed the children and then hanged herself while in a fit of insanity.

THOUSANDS URGE THAT EMPLOYMENT BE FURNISHED THEM

APPROXIMATELY 10 THOUSAND UNEMPLOYED VISIT CAPITOL THURSDAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—Thousands of men with drawn faces petitioned congress today to make work available for them and a while later the senate finally opened debate on the federal corporation bill through which the leadership of both parties hopes tremendously to increase business activity.

Saying it was to enable committees to speed the drafting of economic legislation, democrats in control of the house had it adjourn within an hour. It was aimed there to get the reconstruction coroporation up early next week. There was a chance for senate passage, today.

Led by a Pittsburgh priest, upwards of 10,000 unemployed visited congressional halls and after that the white house. Their plea for a gigantic federal plan to spread work was given to the house and by Father James R. Cox to the president.

The house ways and means committee set next Wednesday for beginning hearings an proposals to increase the taxes.

Representative Rainey, majority leader, told the house the democratic tariff bill will be presented tomorrow for immediate consideration.

Administration opposition to the bill was given to the ways and means committee today by Undersecretary Mills of the treasury.

Another plea for federal relief to the unemployed was received by the senate committee studying bills to that end, Maayor Frank Murphy of Detroit depicting conditions in his section.

Naval Maneuvers About Honolulu May Be Cancelled

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Secretary Adams of the navy department said today that the February maneuvers of the fleet in the vicinity of Hawaii may be cancelled in view of recent disorders on the islands.

The disorders resulted from an attack by natives on white women.

A number of such cases have been reported by naval authorities in Hawaii and the secretary feels further disorders would be prevented by keeping sailors from landing.

Naval officials expressed the opinion that the maneuvers would be held in another locality and that if the fleet went to Hawaii shore leave there would not be granted.

FARM LEADERS ARE ATTENDING MEETING OF AGRICULTURISTS

FORT WORTH, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Farm leaders from practically every section of Texas arrived today for the opening of the annual meeting of the Texas Agricultural Workers' Association.

The Texas agricultural writers confirence, an auxiliary organization to the Workers association, will meet jointly with the association convention.

The morning session opened with the annual address of the president, A. L. Ward of Dallas. Four speakers on the morning program were: H. H. Williamson, vice-director of the Texas A. and M. College extension service; L. W. Morley of New York, secretary of the American Jersey Cattle Club; E. J. Kyle, dean of the school of agriculture at Texas A. and M., and E. R. UNITED STATES IS LEADER IN MOVE TO STOP AGGRESSION

NINE POWER TREATY TO PROTECT INTEGRITY CHINA INVOKED THURSDAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—The United States today invoked the nine power treaty in the Manchurian dispute.

The treaty deals with preservation of China's territorial and administrative integrity.

The action was taken by Secretary Stimson after consulting with the other powers party to the treaty.

Further action of a more sweeping character of which the nine power treaty was the axis has been taken, but details were not disclosed today at the time that the revelation of invocation of the treaty came.

Just when and how the notification went to the Far East was not immediately disclosed.

Secretary Stimson had been in consultation over the question with the representatives here of Great Britain and France.

It became clear in midafternoon that important action was imminent. The secretary of state arranged a special conference with newspaper correspondents for later in the day.

The administration's concern over difficulties between China and Japan has become increasingly evident of late.

The original parties to the nine power pact were the United States, Belgium, the British Empire, China, France, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands and Portugal.

ARMY OF JOBLESS ARRIVE IN CAPITOL TO ASK FOR AID

EXTRA POLICE GUARDS ARE POSTED BUT NO DISORDERS EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. —(AP)—The leader of ten thousand unemployed men was received in friendly fashion by President Hoover today but was given no assurance his request for work and help would be met.

Father James R. Cox of Pittsburgh, after giving congress and the president a petition for aid, said the president had told him everything the government could do was being done and that there was no chance of doings things suddenly outside of the regular channels.

"I told the president," Father Cox said, "that unless immediate relief is given, God help the country."

He went to the White House after an orderly demonstration on Capitol Hill at which he had given his petition to Senator Davis and Representative Kelly of Pennsylvania. It later was read in the house.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—An army of jobless men from Pennsylvania massed at the capitol today to demand that congress appropriate five billion dollars for public works to relieve unemployment.

Between 10,000 and 15,000 thronged the capitol's plaza and near-by streets as Rev. James R. Cox, Pittsburgh priest, who led them across the Allegheny mountains, prepared petitions to hand to Senator James J. Davis and Representative Clyde Kelly, both of Western Pennsylvania.

For the second time during the seventy-second congress, an extra force of police guarded capitol doors. No disorder was anticipated, however. Missing were the tear gas pistols and shot guns

EMPLOYEE STOCKHOLDERS IN INDUSTRIAL CONCERNS HAVE BEEN GENERALLY PROTECTED

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The national industrial conference board made public today the result of an analysis of 65 employee stock plans, undertaken to determing what steps had been taken to protect employees' stock holdings in the face of altered economic conditions.

In 1927 there were about 800,000 stock holding employees whose securities had a market value of around $1,000,000,000 in 389 companies. What effect business conditions have had on those figures has not been calculated and until business is stabilized examination to ascertain the effect would be difficult and inaccurate.

Thirty-nine of the 65 companies studied in today's report stated definitely that they did not repurchase stock that has been fully paid for, despite the decline in market value. In 12 of the remaining 26, either because the initial plan has not matured and consequently no stock is yet fully owened by the employees, or because the question has not been raised by employee stock owners, the problem of repurchase has not arisen.

One company promises to repurchase paid-up stock at any time within two years of the date of sale. Two plans provide for repurchase from employees who leave the company. Market of stock in two other companies has not reached the low value at which employees bought it.

Five companies, while not technically providing for repurchase, have bought stock from employees in distress and only four companies of the 65 promise to repurchase paid-up stock at any time. Various practices are followed as to whether the market pricee or sale price is paid.

Where stock is not yet paid for, numerous arrangements, emergency and otherwise, have been brought into use to protect the employee, though some companies have made no such effort. Most employers have considered that employe stock ownership was brought into use not only to sell stock but to increase the interest of the employe and to teach saving habits, and that therefore the employee should be protected so far as possible.

CONGRESS LEADERS SEEKING TO SPEED PRESSING MEASURES

RECONSTRUCTION AND TARIFF BILLS HOLD SWAY IN SENATE AND HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The leaders of congress sought hard today to brush aside parliamentary technicalities and get pressing legislation enacted.

In the senate, Republican and Democratic heads, backed by a dominant majority, worked to put through the reconstruction finance crporation plan, which objections of one member held up yesterday. The Democratic bosses of the house served warning on their political opponents that they meant to pass the party's tariff bill before the week is ended, to clear the way on that side of the capitol for the reconstruction bill.

Not only was this measure awaiting senate passage, but the federal land bank increased capitalization bill was ready to be taken up. This has gone through the house but, amended by a senate committee, probably will have to go back.

The house ways and means committee, which has the tariff bill, offered time today to administration officials to get their views on record, but this hearing period was definitely limited.

Already the Democratic members have agreed to knock out provision for reciprocal trade agreements with foreign nations, in view of complications foreseen.

Ardent feminists, meanwhile, rallied at the capitol today around a proposal to complete sex equality in citizenship.

The final section of a bill, by Representative Cable of Ohio, was their pride and joy—it said:

No Sex Distinction.

"Hereafter there shall be no distinction based on sex in the law

HABEAS CORPUS IS PLANNED TO RELEASE MAHATMA GANDHI

INDIAN NATIONALISTS STUNNED BY SWEEPING GOVERNMENT ACTIVITY

By JAMES A. MILLS.

BOMBAY, India, Jan. 7.—(AP)—An application for a writ of habeas corpus for Mahatma Gandhi will be made Jan. 11 by Indian nationalist attorneys, calling for his presence before a high court to test the legality of his imprisonment under a regulation of 1827.

India's nationalist forces, momentarily stunned meanwhile by the severity of the sweeping restrictive ordinances imposed on them by the government, appeared today to have taken to cover.

The country, thus far during renewal of the civil disobedience campaign, has been free from grave disorders or serious bloodshed and a paralyzing reaction on trade, especially upon British goods, as a result of the nationalists' boycott, has been the chief reaction.

One danger looming in the background was the possibility of a renewal of the strife between Hindu and Moslem millions such as caused the bloody Cawnpore riots last year during which members of the two factions cut each other's thorats until 1,000 lay dead.

Whole villages on the northwest frontier, which is India's gateway, have been fined under the repressive ordinancs for holding meet-

DALE JACKSON IS VICTIM STUNTING LATE WEDNESDAY

REFUELING ENDURANCE RECORD HOLDER KILLED IN FALL AT MIAMI

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 7.—(AP)—One too many inside loops was blamed for the death of Dale (Red) Jackson, 26, St. Louis flier and coholder of the unofficial endurance refueling flight record.

He fell 3,000 feet, apparently unable to extricate himself from a plane whose wings failed to stand the strain of aerobatics as he stunted above Miami municipal airport yesterday on the eve of the fourth annual all-American air race.

Holder of the record of 417 aerial barrel-rolls, Jackson took to the air in an amphibian plane yesterday to practice for competition for the Freddie Lund cup, donated by the city of Miami for proficiency in aerobatics at the air meet.

He looped, rolled and went into an Immelman turn. Then spectators saw him wing into another inside loop.

While the gaze of hundreds was held skyward, a wing of the amphibian tore loose and spun toward the ground. Another wing fell away and the plane hurtled down.

Jackson's body was found in the pilot's seat. A finger of his right hand clutched the ring of his parachute cord.

CONGRESSIONAL DEMOCRATS PLAN TO IGNORE PLEA MADE BY RASKOB ON PROHIBITION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Congresisonal Democrats, who regard themselves as the real voice of the party, intend to ignore the prohibition issue raised by Chairman Raskob of the national committee.

It is the firm conviction of the party chieftains on capitol hill that Democratic success in this year's presidential campaign rests in successful solution of the economic crisis confronting the nation.

Moreover, Democrats in congress for the most part believe the prohibition issue is one which splits both parties and should be kept beyond the realm of a party tie.

Under the leadership of Senator Robinson of Arkansas and Speaker Garner, the Democrats intend to focus every attention on the economic issues. If the prohibition issue comes up in the national convention, as Mr. Raskob says it must, then that is the time, they say, to meet it, but no sooner.

There is considerable satisfaction among the congressional group that Raskob decided not to press for a commitment by the national committee at Saturday's meeting on the prohibition subject he has advanced.

In view of this decision, which members of congress regard as a victory for their stand in the march meeting of the committee, there is now every prospect of harmony at the forthcoming party pow-wow.

There is full expectation that a roll call will be had at this session of congress on prohibition with either repeal or modification the question, but it apepars clear neither Republicans nor Democrats will attempt to make a party issue of it.

FURTHER ACTION IN OUSTER SUITS POSTPONED; JUDGE IS DOUBTFUL OF JURISDICTION

AUSTIN, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Further preliminaries toward getting in shape for trial Attorney General James Allred's ouster suit against 17 oil corporations and organizations because of claimed violations of anti-trust laws will be held in Travis county district court Jan. 18.

Meanwhile, Judge C. A. Wheeler, in whose court the case was filed, will consider a motion of the attorney general to enter a default judgment against the Shell Union Oil corporation of New York, the only defendant on which legal service was had which had not filed an answer to the state's allegations.

The court was not certain it had jurisdiction to act on such a judgment since "friends of the court" contended no property of the defendant, a foreign corporation, had been impounded in this state through garnishment.

Judge Wheeler said he was "unconvinced that it is proper to enter default judgment at this time" and would hold the matter open.

The court definitely held that the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and the Standard Oil company of New York were not "in court" since sufficient service had not been obtained on them. Service also was lacking on the Standard Oil company of California, a legal return having not been received from the sheriff of San Francisco.

Neither the court nor Attorney General Allred were satisfied with sufficiency of service on the American Petroleum Institute, E. T. Moore of Dallas, a director of the organization, contending he was not the proper person on whom to serve citation.

Under the law, the case either will have to be continued until the next term of court or the state dismiss as to the defendants on whom proper service was not had. It was considered certain the continuance would be asked, since, under the attorney general's allegations, the entire case of alleged law violations revolves around the standard oil companies.

CHARGES AGAINST SECRETARY MELLON BEFORE COMMITTEE

AFTER MANY COMPLAINTS TREASURY HEAD FINALLY FACES DIRECT CHARGES

LEAD CHARGES AGAINST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Consideration of the Patman resolution to impeach Secretary Mellon was postponed today by the house judiciary committee until next week. The action was agreed on by committee members because of delay in having the resolution reach the committee formally through parliamentary channels.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—For the first time in the many years since Andrew Mellon has been secretary of the treasury, a formal move for his impeachment lay today before a congressional agency.

Year after year one member or another has suggested that something of the sort be done, or demanded his resignation, questioning the right of so wealthy a man, stockholder in many corporations, to hold the purse strings of the nation. Attempts have been made to force him out.

But it awaited democratic control of the house and the determination of Representative Wright Patman of Texas to actually start impeachment of the veteran financier. How far the ouster move will get remains to be seen.

"High crimes and misdemeanors" was the general—and required—designation of the accusations. Violation of a law of 1789, designed to prevent treasury secretaries from engaging in business or commerce was the prin-

SUBSIDY IS ASKED BY WISCONSIN FARM WORKERS MEASURE

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 6.—(AP)—From the Alfalfa fields of Wisconsin, dirt farmer legislators have brought to the state capital what is perhaps the most direct plant of farm relief ever to gain the serious attention of an American legislature.

"Pay us," say the farmers, "out of the state treasury."

Weary with unfilled relief promises, tired of what they call will o'the wisp plans which never get further than resounding arguments in congress, the farmers of the state have frankly asked for a subsidy.

At present there is $24,500,000 in the general fund of the state. The farmer, worrying about his mortgage as he follows a furrow across the south forty, spectators on the inherent prosperity of a state which can pile up such a sum. He figures it is about time for this "redistribution of wealth" which young Gov. Philip F. LaFollette is talking about.

Not that the governor has sanctioned the subsidy bill which passed the assembly with a tremendous majority. He had expressed no opinion on it.

The subsidy plan rode into the legislature on the coat tails of a bill to provide an eight-hour day for Wisconsin laborers. Farmers were agreeable to the idea that city workers should labor only eight hours. But they insisted the farmers be included somehow.

As originally worked out, and as the assembly accepted it, 73 to 9, every farmer was to receive 30 cents an hour for an eight hour day and time and a half for overtime. He was to sell the products of his farm and if the sum did not equal payment on the basis suggested by the bill, the state was to make up the difference. Under the plan, assemblymen insisted, farmers would be singing in the rain and smiling in the drought.

But the sober element began to figure and calculated that the measure might mean paying as much as $300,000,000 annually to the state's 450,000 farmers. The measure is now amended so that the state may not expend more than $5,000,000 annually on the subsidy, and that amount shall be raised through dividend taxes and surtaxes on incomes.

The senate has yet to act on the amended measure.

The bill provides that the state department of agriculture and markets "shall determine the cost of production of all farm products * * * which determination shall remain in effect throughout the period of the present depression." Indicative of the hope that the economic depression is nearing the end, the measure states the subsidy is not to be paid after Dec. 31, 1932, and is to be terminated prior to that time of "the prices at least equal the cost of production." The department figures what it costs to raise 100 pigs and sows that the farmer gets paid accordingly. There's no time-keeping involved.

CLAIMS LIVESTOCK PRODUCERS CRUSHED BY UNJUST MACHINE

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Declaring live stock producers "are being crushed under the wheels of an unjust 'economic machine,'" J. H. Mercer, Kansas Live Stock association secretary, today proposed four steps for the industry's relief.

Establishment of liberal and reasonable credits, a marketing committee, meat popularizing publicity and contracts by packers for future delivery were the suggestions offered a live stock emergency conference called by the Kansas association.

Denying intention of spreading alarm, the secretary emphasized his belief the time has come when not only the national government but captains of industry and "financial barons of the land, had better give heed to the acute distress" of the agriculturist.

FOR DISTRICT JUDGE

In another place in today's paper will be found the formal announcement of Judge Warren Hicks as a candidate for the office of District Judge of the thirteenth judicial district, composed of Navarro county, subject to the action of the democratic primaries.

Judge Hicks needs no introduction to the voters of Navarro county. He served the people of Navarro county for a period of four years as county judge, and his friends point with pride to his record made in that office.

Judge Hicks is a married man, 35 years of age. He was reared on a farm in Navarro county. He is a self made man, having fought his way up the ladder over difficulties.

Judge Hicks is qualified by training and experience to fill the office of district judge. He is a graduate of the University of Texas law school, where he graduated with honors in the class of 1923. Since completing his legal training he has been engaged in the practice of law in Navarro county.

Judge Hicks asks the voters to give careful consideration to his candidacy for this important office. He promises the voters that if elected to this office he will discharge the duties of said office with justice and impartiality, and in a way that the voters will never have cause to regret having placed confidence in him.

In making his announcement for the office of district judge, Judge Hicks wishes to remind the voters that four years ago he made the race for this office. That in the second primary he polled three thousand nine hundred and ninety-nine (3999) votes lacking only 496 votes of election. He then announced that he would again seek the office of district judge four years from that date, and this formal announcement is a fulfillment of that statement.

HEAVY RAINS AT WORTHAM CUTS OFF TOWN'S GAS SUPPLY

WORTHAM, Jan. 5.—(Special to the Sun)—Many homes in Wortham were rather uncomfortably cold Tuesday when the local gas supply failed. Gas company employees had not located the trouble at noon, but a large crew were engaged in searching for the obstruction, believed to be water in a main as a result of the heavy rain Monday night.

Electric toasters and coffee pots and old-fashioned wood stoves were in heavy demand.

Seven inches of rain in the past 24 hours was reported for Wortham and vicinity, accompanied Monday night by a severe electrical storm that resulted in a short break in the electrical service of the town.

Two bridges were destroyed on a rural route out of Wortham, making it impossible for two of the consolidated school buses to cover their routes Tuesday morning.

It is believed, however, that the heavy, packing rain Monday night will aid highway conditions in and around Wortham.

JULIUS ROSENWALD, PHILANTHROPIST AND MERCHANT IS DEAD

CHICAGO MERCHANT-PRINCE HAD MOST EVENTFUL AND USEFUL CAREER

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Julius Rosenwald is dead but the philanthropies which brought him international renown will live on for many years to come.

The 69-year-old merchant-prince, who began a brilliant business career by pumping an organ in a Springfield, Ill., church at five cents an hour, was more concerned by his gifts for the welfare of mankind than the hours left for him to live.

"Mr. Rosenwald was mentally alert through his illness," said Dr. Herbert Pollack, who attended him until his death at 2:55 p. m., yesterday. "He apparently had lost all interest in his vast business enterprise and was intereted only in his philanthropies to the last."

Mr. Rosenwald became ill about two years ago. Physicians diagnosed his complaint as hardening of the arteries. He was never confined to his bed, however, for any length of time until last April. At that time the original trouble was aggravated by heart disease and a kidney ailment and he was ordered to bed.

Roenwald, head of Sears Roebuck and company, gave away approximately $40,000,000 during his life. He was vigorously opposed to "the dead hand in philanthropy," as expressed in perpetual endowments and foundations.

The largest part of Rosenwald's philanthropies have been expended for the welfare of negroes and Jews but his generosities had no racial limitations and his gifts flowed to whites as well as blacks, to Gentiles as well as to Jews.

Helped Employes.

As Rosenwald helped the men of many strange streets, so did he also help his "co-workers" as he preferred to call his employes. Perhaps his most spectacular gestures to the employes came Oct. 30, 1929, on the fourth day of the stock market crash. With millions of dollars in paper profits vanishing every hour, he announced he would personally guarantee the accounts of any and all of his employes to avert the danger of their savings being swept away.

Julius Rosenwald devoted many millions of the dollars which he amassed in business, to hammering at racial and creedal prejudices and to encouraging thrift.

"The besetting sin of America is extravagance," he said over and over again.

His earning power started in 1873 when he pumped a church organ at Springfield, Ill., for five cents an hour. It culminated in 1910 when he became head of the Chicago mail order house of Sears, Roebuck and Company.

He built up this business until its annual turnover exceeded $300,000,000 and its branches could be found in almost every sizable town from coast to coast.

In the interim he had been a newsboy in Springfield, a clothing store clerk in New York, a shop keeper on Fifth avenue, and a manufacturer of men's clothing.

His philanthropies grew with his income. They centered largely in efforts to aid negroes in the United States and oppressed Jews in foreign lands. But his giving had no set bounds and gold flowed generously from his purse to whites as well as blacks and to Gentiles as well as Jews.

Gave Million

Buildings at the University of Chicago and the Rosenwald Industrial museum testified to his civic helpfulness. His work as a dollar a year man in the World war and a gift of $1,000,000 in 1913 to the Council of Grain Exchanges for research work in crop improvement, were evidences of his patriotism. In 1923, the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Research Foundation was established as a step in actual farm relief through scientific marketing. But his delight was in helpful philanthropy.

"Charity," Mr. Rosenwald said, "is the one pleasure that never wears out."

He practiced this precept until his known benefactions totalled around $25,000,000. When in 1922 he reached three score years, he celebrated his birthday by giving away $687,500.

Aid Living

He was a firm believer in giving so that the living would be benefitted. Foundations designed to aid future generations did not appeal to him and he often cited perpetuities which had outlived their usefulness but could not be changed legally despite the fact that their funds were idle and their capital increasing.

His interest in the negro was aroused by Booker T. Washington, famous negro educator and head of Tuskegee Institute. From donations to the institute, the interest developed into a campaign for primary and secondary schools for negroes.

Negroes and whites cooperated, state and county governments agreed to operate the schools and the program became so ambitious that in 1917 the Rosenwald Fund was established in Chicago. For the first 10 years Mr. Rosenwald personally directed this work. In 1928, however, he became chairman of the fund's board of directors and active management was placed in the hands of a full time staff.

More than $5,000,000 had been devoted to the work by the end of 1930 and 5075 schools for negro children, housed in clean, modern, airy buildings, dotted the southern states from Maryland to Texas.

Jewish Charities

Mrs. Rosenwald's Jewish charities were more direct and larger than his negro benefactions. He spent $5,000,000 to help put Russian Jewish farmers back on land in the Crimea after they had [illegible]dispossessed in other sections of Russia. Other hundreds of [illegible] were given to similar Jewish colonization plans, although he never believed in the [illegible] movement for establishing [illegible] homeland in Palestine.

In February, 1921, Mr. Rosen[illegible] headed a committee of 25 Jews who visited the stricken peoples of Europe. This was in preparation for a campaign conducted by the American Jewish Relief Committee which brought $14,000,000 in contributions.

Gave in Millions

He subsequently gave $1,000,000 for Jewish relief and colonization in Europe, subscribed $5,000,000 to the American-Jewish Joint Agricultural Corporation, gave $5,000,000 to the Jewish Theological Seminary as a memorial to Louis Marshall, noted lawyer, and aided financially libraries and museums of the Near East.

He received the Gottheal medal of Zeta Beta Tau, national Jewish collegiate fraternity, for the greatest service to Jewry in 1928, and the same year he received the Harmon Foundation award for his services in improving the relations between white people and negroes.

He also was credited for the union of American Hebrew congregations, although many of these congregations felt the sting of his censure when he charged extravagant use of wine under the guise of religion.

Mr. Rosenwald was born in a house close to the old home of Abraham Lincoln in Springfield, Ill., Aug. 12, 1862, and was one of five children. His two brothers and two sisters reside in Chicago. The mother of the family, Mrs. Augusta Rosenwald, died there on Feb. 4, 1921. She was born in Germany, came to America in 1853 and married Samuel R. Rosenwald in Baltimore in 1857.

Of his boyhood, Julius Rosenwald often said: "I was uneducated in the public schools."

Opened Store at 21

From Springfield he went at the age of 16 to New York as a clerk in the clothing store of Hammerslough Brothers, conducted by his uncles. At 21 he opened a store of his own on Fifth avenue but it had indifferent success.

His next venture was partnership in Chicago with Julius Weil. Beginning in 1885 the firm manufactured clothing. In 1895, it became Rosenwald and Company and sold much of its output to R. W. Sears, a mail order house. At that time Sears needed more capital and Mr. Rosenwald bought a half interest in the business for $70,000. A later later he became vice president and in 1910 when Mr. Sears died he was made president of the concern.

By 1916 the half interest in Sears, Roebuck and Company had become worth $150,000,000.

New Policy Pays

Mr. Rosenwald established the revolutionary policy in the mail order business of refunding purchase money to dissatisfied customers without question. The wisdom of this step was attested by the growth of his house. From $11,000,000 in 1900, the sales jumped to $50,000,000 in 1906, to $100,000,000 in 1914, and $270,000,000 in 1919.

"A man who thinks much and talks little—a man of action," was a colleague's description of the commercial genius who directed this growth of the new business giant.

Mr. Rosenwald was married twice. His first wife was Augusta Nusbaum of Chicago to whom he was wed April 8, 1890. She died in May, 1929, and the following January he married the mother-in-law of his eldest son, Lessing Rosenwald. She was Mrs. Adelaide Goodkind, widow of a merchant at St. Paul, Minn.

The wedding took place at the Lessing Rosenwald home near Philadelphia. By a pre-nuptial agreement Mrs. Goodkind was given $1,000,000 and waived dower rights in the Rosenwald estate.

GOVERNMENT REFORM TO BE DEMANDED FOR HONOLULU DISTRICT

HONOLULU, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Honolulu today was a city of impending investigations and governmental reforms.

Several hundred men and women members of civic organizations met and pledged themselves to work "forcefully and relentlessly" for governmental reforms while the grand jury called for inquiries designed to improve conditions.

Both moves were part of a clean-up campaign instituted as the outgrowth of an attack Saturday on an American school teacher—the second on a white woman within a few weeks.

The grand jury's report asked for investigation of the police department and of motion pictures dealing with gangs and sex questions and more strenuous enforcement of the prohibition law.

However, the jury regarded prohibition as difficult, if not impossible, to enforce and expressed the opinion that under it the drink evil has become worse than ever.

The jury indicted Lui Kaikapu, escaped Hawaiian convict who attacked the school teacher, for attack and burglary. Kaikapu pleaded guilty shortly afterward and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

On her return here last night Mrs. Ferguson would not discuss the incident. A hitch-hiker was arrested at Sherman but released.

MISSING AVIATOR FOUND DEAD IN HIS BURNED AIRPLANE

ELKINS, W. Va., Jan. 7.—(AP)—A lonely, pine-covered knob of granite in the great mountains has given up the secret of the disappearance of Lieut. E. H. Bobbitt, Jr., army air corps pilot.

Bobbitt's body, sitting in the cockpit of his burned plane, was found late yesterday by a farmer and a trapper. They had scaled Pool's Knob to look out over the surrounding country for the missing plane.

The ship struck a tree and burned at the very peak of the crag.

The aviator disappeared Christmas day while en route from Selfridge Field, Mich., to his home at Hot Springs, Va., to spend the holidays with his parents.

The body was brought to Elkins this morning from the mountains. It was carried three miles to a highway from the lonely peak.

Seven and one half hours were required to remove the body from the wilderness.

When TEETHING
makes HIM FUSSY

One of the most important things you can do to make a teething baby comfortable is to see that little bowels do their work of carrying off waste matter promptly and regularly. For this nothing is better than Castoria, a pure vegetable preparation specially made for babies and children. Castoria acts so gently you can give it to young infants to relieve colic. Yet it is always effective, for older children, too. Remember, Castoria contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics—is absolutely harmless. When your baby is fretful with teething or a food upset, give a cleansing dose of Castoria. Be sure you get genuine Castoria with the name:

CORSICANA TIGERS DEFEATED MILDRED WEDNESDAY 41-21

POLLARD, FERRELL AND GAINES WERE LEADING SCORERS IN CONTEST

Corsicana high school Tigers defeated the Mildred cagers in a practnce game on the junior high school gymnasium Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, 41-21, assuming the lead early in the game and never being seriously threatened. Pollard, forward, led the procession when he accounted for six field goals and a pair of free tosses. He was closely pressed for honors by Ferrell, Tiger center, who made six field flips. V. Gaines, Mildred forward, led his club with 11 points, four field and three free shots.

The Tigers were leading at the first quarter, 10-7, and at the half, 22-11. The score was 28-13 at the end of the third period.

The game was hard-fought throughout, and both clubs were hustling.

NAVARRO'S FINE FINISH ERASED STATE HOME LEAD

FOURTEEN POINTS SCORED IN LAST QUARTER WHILE LADS BLANKED

Navarro high school staged a determined and effective rally in the fourth quarter Tuesday night on the Corsicana Y. M. C. A. floor to eke out a 29-27 victory over the State Home Lad loopers after trailing the State Home club, 27-15, at the end of the third period.

State Home took the lead early in the contest and was leading, 11-4, at the first quarter and 19-12 at the half. State Home forged further ahead in the third period, but three field goals by Vinson and Doolin and one by Compton turned the tide in the final quarter when the State Home was held scoreless.

F. Doolen, center for the Navarro boys, was high point man of the evening with 12 points, but was closely pressed for honors by Lear of State Home who accounted for 11 points. Lear looped five field goals and one free shot while F. Doolen made six field goals.

Vinson, substitute Navarro forward, who replaced Coleman, also played a fine offensive and defensive game when he looped five goals after he was sent into the fray.

The Hillsboro Junior College quintet failed to arrive for the scheduled game with the Corsicana Y.M.C.A. Oce five.

Mildred Has Games With State Home and Emmett Cagers Soon

The Mildred cagers will meet the State Home Lads of Corsicana on the Mildred gymnasium Friday night. Both State Home and Mildred have lost games this week and will make an effort to turn in a victory.

State Home was nosed out by the Navarro quintet here Tuesday night, 29-27 after maintaining a lead practically the entire game while Mildred lost to Corsicana high school, 41-21, in a game Wednesday afternoon.

Mildred will entertain the Emmett five at Mildred, Friday night, Jan. 15. This should prove an interesting tilt. It will be remembered the Emmett cagers won the fifth annual invitation tournament sponsored by the Corsicana Y. M. C. A. in December and defeated the Mildred club, 28 to 26 in the semi-finals in one of the most colorful contests of the tournament.

The Emmett five has proven that its winning of the tournament was no fluke as that club has won sixteen games and lost one this season. The Emmett five lost to Axtell several days ago in the Penelope invitation tournament.

Cadet Potter was uninjured.

SPORT NOTES

By PAUL MOORE
Sun Sports Editor

Corsicana Tiger cagers turned in their second straight basketball victory of the season Wednesday afternoon when they outclassed the Mildred cagers, 41-21, on the junior high gymnasium. The passing and goal shooting showed considerable improvement over that shown in the season's opener Saturday night against the Van Vandals.

Mildred is one of the leading class B quints in Navarro county.

Vernon Breedlove meets Tuffy McMullen in the main attraction at Jim Williams' arena Thursday night (tonight) and a real affair is anticipated. Breedlove is one of the quickest and fastest grapplers ever to perform in local circles while McMullen is a good welterweight and is tough. McMullen will have a weight advantage while Breedlove is a veteran matsman and his knowledge of the game should off-set the weight advantage of the Breckenridge boy.

The annual Tiger Loyalty banquet honoring the members of the Corsicana high school football team will be held Tuesday, Jan. 19, according to an announcement Thursday morning by Festus A. Pierce, chairman of the Civitan club committee making arrangements. Pierce states a fine program is being arranged. He has been one of the leaders in this annual event. There will likely be several surprise numbers on this program. This year is the second time in a row the Tiger have advanced to the semi-finals of the University of Texas Interscholastic league race. A large crowd is anticipated and expected on the annual occasion for the honoring the Bengals, Babe Ruth, Sultan of Swat, maintains he will demand another $80,000 contract with the New York Yankees for the 1932 and 1933 seasons. Ruth declares he will go after that amount and Col. Jake Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, stater recently that Ruth would be forced to take a reduction. The writer believes Ruth is right in his contention despite the fact the major league magnates have decreed lower salaries must be taken by the stars. Ruth's popularity is undimmed and his hitting is still one of the features of the majors. His popularity and drawing power has sent millions of dollars into the turnstiles of the American league parks and the great Yankee stadium in New York is in reality a monument to Ruth's popularity at the gate. Ruth has won several pennants for the Yankees and on a number of other occasions has made an ordinary ball club a colorful and dangerous outfit. So the writer believes Ruth is entitled to his $80,000 for a couple of years whether he hit any home runs or not. However, Ruth will probably have a hard time making Col. Ruppert see it that way.

Mildred has resumed practice after the Christmas holidays. The club appeared stale Wednesday afternoon against the Tigers, but Coach Tommie Younger will send his charges through hard practice during the remainder of the week and will meet the State Home Lads at Mildred Friday night in the second game of the week.

The Athens Hornets do not seem to be so strong this season in basketball and have lost a number of practice games. Coach Jimmie Kitts may round his boys into form by the time the Interscholastic competition begins, but the Hornets have appeared weaker than ever before since Kitts went to the Htnderson county capital. Eardwell socked the Hornets, 17-6, Wednesday night. Alba won some games and the Hornets have lost several other tilts.

Corsicana, Denton, Athens and Highland Park clubs will open their seasons in the Big Four basketball league Friday and Saturday evening when Corsicana invades Denton and Highland Park goes to Athens. This league will close Feb. 9 in order that the clubs can compete in the regular University of Texas Interscholastic league race.

Temple high school quint has been winning during the past several weeks, drubbing the class B quints in that section consistently and decisively. Whether the Wildcats are really dangerous contenders for state honors or whether they have not had any real competition remains to be seen, but to say the least of it, the Bell county capital lads have been stepping lively, and have won about a dozen games.

THREE JUDGE COURT TO HEAR APPLICATION AGAINST TRUCK LAW

DALLAS, Jan. 7.—(AP)—A three-judge federal court tomorrow morning will hear the application of H. B. Sage for are permanent injunction restraining Texas authorities from enforcing against interstate motor truck operators that portion of the new Texas truck regulatory act which requires contract carriers to obtain permits from the state railroad commission before they can do business in Texas.

The court will consist of United States Circuit Judge Joe C. Hutcheson Jr. of New Orleans, United States District Judge W. I. Grubb of Alabama, and United States District Judge William Hawley Atwell of Dallas.

The hearing grew out of the arrest of Sage and several other interstate truck operators for alleged violation for the new law. The cases were set before Justice of the Peace E. John Baldwin of Dallas, but before they came to trial applications for the injunction were filed in federal court.

The same three-judge federal court issued a temporary restraining order against state authorities in this case while sitting at New Orleans recently.

BRIEF HISTORY OF MARVIN COLLEGE IS MOST INTERESTING

MANY OLD TIMERS OF CITY AND COUNTY ATTENDED EARLY DAY COLLEGE

The following brief history of Marvin College was written for the Daily Sun by Miss Lizzie Reymuller, 206 East Marvin avenue, Waxahachie. Miss Reymuller was a guest of Mrs. L. D. Steeley during the holidays and while here prepared the sketch. A number of people now living in Corsicana were students of the college and the article will not only be of interest to them, but to others.

The article follows:

In 1866 a Methodist conference was held in Waxahachie. It was presided over by Bishop Marvin. The conference decided to establish a school of higher learning, it being the first of its kind in this section of the state. Members of the conference decided that the school should be named in honor of the presiding bishop and hence the name, Marvin College.

A lot containing 12 acres was donated by Maj. E. M. Rogers, and in order to take advantage of the situatiin and gain time a temporary school was established in the western part of town.

The corner stone for the college was laid in 1870, four years after it was voted to found the institution. At the time of the laying of the corner stone the trustees announced the opening of the school with Rev. S. D. Aiken in charge, assisted by Miss Sallie Kinchlow.

The first commencement exercises were held in 1871.

The next president of the college was Dr. J. W. R. McKensie and he was assisted by Prof. and Mrs. Smith Ragsdale. In 1872 Rev. Josiah M. Pugh became president and served until 1874. He was assisted by E. F. Geager, teacher of languages. Later Mr. Pugh became editor of the Waxahachie Weekly Enterprise, which is still being published.

Prof. E. F. Geager and W. H. Allen conducted a private school in the college building and they were succeeded in their work by Mrs. E. H. Horner, who was assisted by Miss Laura Whipple, teacher of piano. Private schools continued to be conducted in the building for a number of years, various teachers trying the experiment.

From 1878 until 1881 Rev. John R. Allen and his brother, W. H. Allen, conducted a sectarian Methodist school.

The Methodist school was continued from 1881 until 1885 under the presidency of Gen. L. M. Lewis, a Methodist minister.

In 1885, the building and campus were sold to the city for public school purposes.

The building was brick made from sand dug from Waxahachie creek. It was a two-story building with the class rooms on the lower floor and a large auditorium on the second floor. Chapel services were held in the auditorium each morning and sometimes they lasted until nearly noon.

The auditorium was also used for graduating exercises, musicals which often lasted until midnight and benefit performances at one of which Edison's wonderful phonograph was played by a traveling exhibitor, immediately after its invention. On several occasions the churches of the city held Christmas trees there.

The building was considered unsafe and wrecked in 1920. The bell was taken from the tower and is yet calling the children each morning as it was placed in a frame on the same campus, now Central Ward school.

The bell bears this inscription: "Presented to Marvin University, 1871, by the Merchants of New York City."

For the last five years the ex-students have met in reunion at Fair Park, Dallas, during the Fair. At our last meeting we had the pleasure of having Rev. John R. Allen, ex-president, open the meeting with prayer, and an address by Mr. Clarence, an ex-teacher and former secretary of abriculture.

ALLEGED NATIONAL COMMITTEE REPORT NOT ACCORDING LAW

CORRUPT PRACTICES ACT HELD VIOLATED IN REPORT OF U. S. ATTORNEY

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(AP)—United States Attorney George Z. Medalie today said today that the federal corrupt practices act had been violated in the filing of the democratic national committee's annual report for 1928, which was signed by James W. Gerard, as treasurer.

Prosecution, however, Medalie said, is barred by the three-year statute of limitations, the three-year period prescribed by law having ended Sunday, Jan. 3, one day after Jacob J. Rosenblum, assistant U. S. attorney, confirmed reports that proper returns had not been made.

Medalie said, however, that the statute had not run against quarterly and annual reports made since the report of Jan. 3, 1929, which covered expenses of the National campaign of 1928. He added that Rosenblum will return to Washington at a date not yet determined to look into reports of both democratic and republican national committees beginning with the end of March 1929, also any other reports which may fall under the provisions of the corrupt practices act. Medalie did not criticize Gerard.

"There is no doubt," said Medalie "that the penal provisions of the corrupt practices act were violated in the filing of the annual report of 1928. The violation of the law consisted in the failure to enumerate the items of disbursements in excess of $10 each by giving the name, address, amount and purpose in each instance.

"The failure to file a report that contains them is a violation of the law. The filing of a report that omits such details is a violation of the law."

Man Detained in Hot Springs Case Ordered Released

DALLAS, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Judge Grover Adams today ordered the release of Walter Shanks, detained for investigation in connection with the slaying of Preston Austin, Victoria cattleman, at Hot Springs, Ark., in 1929.

Emory previously had advised Houston authorities that three other suspects in the case had been cleared. They were A. M. Jenkins, W. F. Martin, and W. S. (Shilo) Scrivenor.

The vote and influence of the voters of Navarro county are respectfully solicited by Mr. Westbrook.—(Political Advertisement.)

TWO MEN CONFESS BURNING FAMILY OF EIGHT TO DEATH

REVENGE MOTIVE FOR TERRIBLE DEED COMMITTED NEARLY YEAR AGO

GALLIPOLIS, O., Jan. 5. (AP)—Sheriff Charles Swanson announced today that two inmates of the boy's industrial school at Lancaster confessed they made a funeral pyre last spring out of a Gallia county log cabin, burning eight persons to death.

Revenge was the motive, Swanson said, adding that the boys confessed because of stricken consciences.

The boys were Abler Reymer of Gallipolis and Elsorth Mowyer of Bucyrus. The cabin was occupied by James White, 40. He and seven of his children died in the flames.

Before setting fire to the cabin, the youths said, they nailed up the doors and windows so there would be no escape for the victims.

The sheriff said Reymer and Mowyer admitted the crime to himself and to Assistant Superintendent Lamb when they visited the youths at the institution.

White had moved from Gallipolis to the cabin, located in an isolated district twelve miles west of here the night before the fire. His son, George, 12, was the only one who escaped. The boy broke from the cabin, but suffered severe burns.

Swanson said Reymer and Mowyer were sentenced to Lancaster for automobile theft and that they would be returned here for prosecution.

Reymer said he burned the family to death as a reprisal against White with whom he had fought a short time before the father moved to the cabin. Reymer also held an old grudge against him, he said. The tragedy occurred April 7.

CORSICANA, TEX., JAN. 8, 1932.

READY FOR THE FIGHT.

The year 1931 might be termed the year of readjustment. There is not a business or individual that has not been affected by economic conditions. The business man had to readjust his affairs, take his loss and start over. The housewife had to readjust her household routine to meet conditions. It has been a year of cutting the unnecesssary overhead and taking up the slack and lost motion. This has been accomplished—that is in every business that has survived the storm.

The New Year finds the business man down to fighting weight—in strict training—and ready for the battle with that old zest and ambition to do things that was lost during the years of easy money.

With business in a fighting mood and every man ready to make the fight of his life, the upturn is bound to grow—it cannot be suppressed—possibly a little slow at the start—but before we hardly realize it business will be booming—not caused by inflated values—but on a sane and sound basis of a lasting nature.

We have lost nothing of our natural assets. America is still inhabited by a progressive, up-and-doing people. We just went on a financial spree—we have sobered up—have paid the fiddler—put our house in order—said never again—the old motor has been replaced by a later model with additional horsepower and as we start up the hill of 1932 not a knock can be heard. Possibly the grade will be a little steep for a time and the pull hard but we will gradually reach the level of a sound prosperity and the going will be smooth once more. But we have learned a lesson—a costly one—one that we will not soon forget.

Corsicana and Navarro county faces the future in an optimistic mood. This has always been a good city and will continue to be so. Navarro county is one of the richest agricultural sections in the state and will continue to be so. Farming methods will change but they will be for the better.

We have nothing to fear. The readjustment is complete and we look to the future with confidence that is soundly justified.

AUTOMOBLE SHOWS.

Automobile shows are here again. They ought to dispel for all time the remark once commonly heard, "They can't improve cars much from now on."

Automobiles have been improved in appearance and as to works. They will continue to exhibit improvements from year to year, but the 1932 improvements will prove unusually irresistible to the automobile-conscious.

Perhaps it is commonplace to keep on repeating year after year that these shows have more than a passing interest for even the average persons. The automotive industry is among the leaders in the United States. There are approximately 25,000,000 cars in operation. Each of these cars is certain to have an interest for at least four other persons, so that at the outset of the calculation more that three-fourths of the country's people are interested in automobiles. As a matter of fact that is lower than the actual number.

Under such conditions it is not surprising that the public should be interested in motor cars and the changes and progress they make. It is a matter of educational convenience to find so many grouped for display as are shown at the auto expositions.

JUST FOLKS

MAN AND WOMAN

Had I been born a woman I suppose
I should keep busy powdering my nose,
And frequently, with dainty finger tips,
Keep just as busy reddening my lips,
But since I was to be a man designed,
I am to other vanities inclined.

Had I been born a woman, I confess
I should be very fond of pretty dress,
And talk of hats and shoes and ribbons gay,
As though such things could keep a plague away.
But since I was born masculine I find
I am to other notions more inclined.

I do not care one fig if in the light
My ugly nose shall seem a trifle bright,
Nor do I think my stock in trade 'twould boom,
Were I to spray myself with sweet perfume.
Lipstick I'm sure would do my cause no good,
But if I were a woman, p'raps it would.

So I believe there can be nothing wrong
In the just follies which to each belong.
Woman may very properly adorn
Herself in the way which man, of course, must scorn.
Still I observe it chills my blood to scan
The mannish woman or the girlish man.

DOCTORS SET HIGH STANDARDS.

Among those whose problems have been added to by economic conditions are the doctors. Not only are their payments for services slower than usual, but a public problem has been added to their worries. They are frequently called in on cases that in ordinary times would demand hospitalization, often operations, for cure; but at present the patients cannot afford to pay. If they were sent to hospials, the charges would fall upon the public. The physician, therefore, must exercise skillful judgment. Is immediate hospitalization necessary? Then the patient must go to the hospital, no matter who pays the cost. Can it be safely postponed? Then the duty of the physician requires him to advise the patient to wait, lest public facilities and public purse be overtaxed. Meanwhile the patient's economic position may improve, and when hospitalization can no longer be delayed, he may be able to pay for it.

The medical profession will continue as in the past to recognize its responsibility to the community. Under the high ethics of the profession, it can do no less. But for all that, laymen should understand what the doctors are doing, the patience they are displaying, the sacrifices of time and skill they are making, and the cheerfulness with which they are volunteering to do their full share of community relief and community safeguarding. The physicians of Corsicana are members of a noble profession, and they are upholding its standards with distinction.

ALL WEATHER ROADS.

Corsicana will be served with all weather highways in several directions by the time the next rainy season rolls around. We believe we have spent our last winter in the mud as all major road projects are scheduled for completion during this year.

This means much to Corsicana. It means that the people residing in Corsicana's trade territory will be able to reach this city at all times of the year regardless of weather conditions. And this means a more prosperous year for the merchant, business man, professional man, in fact for every one making Corsicana their home.

An answers editor tells an inquirer, "The contents of a bottle may be removed without disturbing the cork, by drilling the bottom." But why spill trade secrets to satisfy a mere morbid curiosity?

Maybe the South American insane asylum that puts on regular broadcasts could give us a word on the Manchurian military outlook, from the fellow who thinks he's Napoleon.

It takes all kinds of people to make a newspaper office, including the one whose morning is spoiled if yesterday's Congressional Record doesn't arrive in the first mail.

The Winter of Discontent ---By Clive Weed

TEACHING THE FARMER

If the farmers of this land remain in ignorance it will not be the fault of the U. S. department of agriculture. The latest bulletin of that lert department (which cost $176,000,000 this year) concerns the use and care of farm woods. The following statements for the enlightenment, and perhaps the astonishment of the farmer are herewith hastily released.

"Fuel wood is in greatest demand in winter . . ."

"Every stick of wood burned in the stove or furnace in winter saves buying its equivalent in other fuel."

"Damage can be done by destroying trees prematurely or by cutting up quantities of wood and timber for which there may be no sale."

"Where timber is scarce, tops of logged trees can be cut into cord-wood."

"Woods improvement enables the owner to keep his men and teams busy. . . . ."

"Where extensive cutting is contemplated, it is important to seek a market for the products. . . ."

HORSE COLLARS.

Those who control the destinies and policies of radic entertainment will be compelled to maintain a more intelligent supervision over the advertising which goes along with it, or else the public will lose all faith in it. The federal trade commission has just interfered with one fine scheme, at the instigation of New York's better business bureau, and has assembled proof of wholesale fraud and exploitation of the public by way of the ether.

The exhibits in the case were amusing, but there was a touch of tragedy in the fact so many had paid good money for them. They were a sort of harness or horse collar, supposed to be "full of electro-magnetism" and intended to be "adjusted around the waist and used two or three times daily" in order to cure nearly anything. They may have cost $10 to make; they were sold to the radio audience for $75 each.

The defense maintains that no precise promises were made and there were "no interstate claims" that the apparatus would effect cures. A radio annoucer confesses to the composition of the radio tributes to those horse collars, deriving his material from the encyclopedia, from sundry medical books and from "the letters of grateful patients." It is quite possible that all this was kept within the letter of the law. But the effect was that the public paid good money for what appears to be worthless rubbish.

Reputable publications will not allow their advertising columns to be degraded by the promotion of "witch-doctor" remedies. Their example should be heeded by radio, which has lately allowed too much talk which resembles that of the traveling medicine man of a generation ago.

Hiding one's light under a bushel is not a widespread modern failing.

PLANT MEMORIAL TREES.

With the issuance by Governor Sterling on December 8 of a proclamation calling upon the citizenship to properly observe Arbor Day and to combine such observance with the planting of thousands of trees commemorating the 200th anniversary of George Washington's birth, the memorial three planting campaign in Texas is fully under way. The Washington memorial tree planting project is an integral part of the nation-wide observance to honor Washington's memory. Nationally it is sponsored by the American Tree Association, Washington, D. C. and in Texas by the Texas Forest Service, Texas Forestry Association and numerous civic organizations. In fact, thousands of trees were planted last year, are already registered with the American Tree Association and will be dedicated on February 22, 1932, which is Washington's birthday as well as Arbor Day.

"Texas should plant trees," states W. Goodrich Jones of Waco, President Emeritus of the Texas Forestry Association. "Millions should be planted to bring greater contentment to the home, to beautify our town and countryside, for windbreaks and shelterbelts throughout the western plains region and for again making productive thousands of acres of cut-over land in the commercial timber belt of East Texas." Circulars containing detailed information on the Washington memorial tree planting project, together with valuable tree planting suggestions, can be obtained from the Texas Forest Service, College Station. individuals and organizations planting memorial trees should notify the American Tree Association, Washington, D. C., or the Texas Forest Service. Such trees will be given a permanent national register for which a certificate will be issued that will also entitle the planter to membership in the American Tree Association.

THE NATIONAL PAYROLL

It requires some second thought to realize the full significance of figures presented by Senator Metcalf, of Rhode Island, who estimates that one-seventh of the working population of the United States is supported wholly or partially by taxation. The estimate of 10,000,000, which is probably conservative, includes federal, state, county and city employes, school teachers, those at work on public construction and the inmates of prisons and tax-supported insane institutions.

The estimate needs to be compared with the number of men and women employed in gainful occupations, which was given by the census bureau as of April 1, 1930, as 48,832,589. The employes in Senator Metcalf's estimate total about 6,700,000. Every six men and women, therefore, who are engaged in private business are paying the salary of one employe of government. In addition they contribute substantially to the care and keep of prisoners, the insane and the inmates of federal hospitals, and pay their share of pensions to 1,100,000 persons.

This is by no means the entire cost of government. But its labor costs alone have become exorbitant and almost intolerable. It is Senator Metcalf's opinion, moreover, that the national payroll, pension list and prison population are all increasing. Americans rightly resent the policies of those nations which maintain enormous military forces by taxes and are therefore unable to pay their just debts. But this country supports a standing army of governmental officials and employes which probably has no equal in the world. It is absurd on the face of it that every hundred workers should need to pay sixteen of their number to attend to their governmental affairs and support others in idleness. The figures prove the fallacy of those who expect to cure unemployment by expensive programs of public works and show that the most direct method of reducing taxation is to reduce the national payroll to reasonable proportions.

It will be a big political year. Don't let the candidates find you without a poll tax receipt.

The Waco physician then presented a paper on "Cancer of the Colon." He was followed by Dr. M. M. Brown of Mexia with a paper on "Some Observations on Spinal Anesthesia." Round-tables followed the various sections of the program.

Mr. Steele is a married man.

NEW MODEL PONTIAC AUTOMOBILES SHOWN BY LOCAL DEALERS

NUMEROUS IMPROVEMENTS LUXURIOUS APPOINTMENTS IN 1932 CARS

Boasting numerous improvements and more luxurious appointments, the 1932 Pontiac series was formally presented to the motoring public of Corsicana Thursday in the showrooms of the Beaton Motor Company as a part of a synchronous nation-wide exhibit.

Smart new styling in the Fisher-built bodies are the first noticeable features, with more advanced stream lining, lower and broader fenders, fender lamps designed, radiator designed changed to more of a V-type, and pleasing new color combinations included.

In addition the new Pontiac series presents a combination of the synchro-mesh transmission and free-wheeling, controlled from the dash, along with a companion control—the ride regulator which makes shock obsorbers instantly adjustable to the type of road travelled.

Another feature of the improved riding comfort is the longer, roomier body, and the rubber cushioning of the chassis at 47 points, along with fully enclosed springs.

The motor has been increased to 65 horsepower, and is equipped with a new selective three-jet carburetor and a gasoline "economizer." Full-pressure lubrication is also provided to every moving part of the new power plant.

The brake system has been considerably improved and presents the driver with greater control with less effort. The wheelbase has been exended to 114 inches, giving great room in the bodies. The driver's seat is equipped with a latch adjustment to suit the fancies of the motorist.

Smaller wheels and wider tires are standard equipment on the new models.

In addition to the six-cylinder-ed product, Pontiac has also announced a V-8 which will probably be exhibited within the near future, and which is a companion car to a number of the General Motors subsidiary products of a much higher price class. The price range on both the six and eight cylinder models is almost unchanged.

A cordial invitation is extended by Russell A. Purifoy, president and general manager of the Beaton Motor Company to visit the company's salesrooms and inspect the Oakland Motor Car Company. A number of models are available for display and demonstration.

Another Attack On Truck Load Limit As Corpus Christi

CORPUS CHRISTI, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The first suit attacking the truck law since the 7,000-pound load limit became effective last Friday was filed in district court here. A temporary injunction was granted yesterday and the hearing on making the injunction permanent was set for Jan. 26.

The suit was brought by the Pure Distributing Company which hauls oil in trucks. The temporary injunction restrained enforcement of the law, (house bill 336) against that concern. The company contended the statute was discriminatory and unconstitutional.

Before the new load limit went into effect, the law had been upheld virtually in its entirety by a three-judge federal court at Houston.

Out-And-Out Characters Are The Need of Troubled Time

Befuddlement And Indecision of Day Contrasted With Decision of First Christian Disciples--- Standing Strongly For The Best We Know.

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

In these bewildering days, a host of people do not know certainly whether they are democrats or republicans, liberals or tories, socialists or capitalists, humanists or Christians. Muddled minds are causing more real havoc than tariffs or money standards. There are even large groups who accept befuddlement as their real creed; they know nothing and believe nothing of a surety. Neither Mount Sinai nor the Mount of Beatitudes is on the horizon of their life in the mud flats.

Thrust into the midst of this era of mental and moral wobbling comes a ringing Lesson upon decision and discipleship. It is the story of the first followers of Jesus, John and Andrew, who recruited their brothers, James and Peter; and then of Philip, who brought into the group guileless Nathaniel.

These men had the brains and the nerve to believe something, and then to act upon their belief. Once convinced that Jesus was the long-foretold Messiah, they daringly left all else and followed him. No dawdlers or doubters or dilletantes were they, but real men, big enough and brave enough to believe, and to pay a high price for their belief.

The Leader Who Stepped Aside.

At the moment of this writing there is high political strife in Washington because a certain leader will not relinquish his position. It is not the way of politicians to surrender power graciously. By contrast, back in the days of our Lesson, there was a picturesque figure in Judea who was easily the outstanding figure of his time, the great social and religious reformer, John the Baptist. He was the day's sensation.

At the apex of the Baptist's power, he saw and acclaimed a Greater than himself. Did he dispute the Newcomer's place, or show jealousy? Not he; John was too great for that. He openly proclaimed that "He must increase, but I must decrease." John publicly pointed to Jesus as the Coming One, whose herald he himself was.

That was more than a generous gesture. When it came to parting with his own disciples, that they might become followers of Jesus, he did not hesitate. To Jesus they should go. The fulfillment of his own mission was to aid this Greater One. A great giver-up was the Baptist; and therefore one of the giant figures in history's gallery of immortals.

Stopping At Second Best.

Down below Bagdad, in the town of Amarra, dwell a mysterious people called the Sabeans; who are reputed to be disciples of John the Baptist. Like the twelve whom Paul found at Ephesus, they have never got beyond the introductory stages of Christianity. They had a little light, and are content with it. They have stopped at the station of the second best.

Not so with John's disciples whom he directed to the Master. They were of that noble sort who will not rest content with a half-truth when the whole truth may be known. They were quality spirits, seekers after the best. They decided for Jesus, and then were decided for Him.

How that truth cries aloud in our own day. Would that a trumpet voice could shout again, "If God be God, follow Him! If Baal be god, follow him! If Karl Marx be god, follow him! If the old phallic idol be god, follo it! If self be god, follow it!"

Let us at least quit our doddering, dawdling, indecisive halting between two opinions. Like these early Galileans, let us be big enough and brave enough to give loyal service to the highest truth we know. One of these first two disciples afterward wrote, in a daring and arresting metaphor, when he was a prisoner for the truth on the Isle of Patmos, that God spews out of his mouth the people who are neither hot nor cold. The world abounds in men and women who give intellectual or emotional assent to the claims of Christ, yet yield Him no real allegiance that shows in their lives. Away with the "good-Lord, good-devil" type of character! Never was a day in human history that more distressfully called for men of courageous conviction and conduct.

The Dear Name of Teacher

I have a Persian friend, a Christian minister, whom we call, after the Syriac usage, "Rabbi." The word falls tenderly and appreciatively from our lips, for so the inquiring disciples called Jesus. We need nowadays to stress the mission of the Master as teacher; for these are bewildering times, for which only he has the adequate word of wisdom and leadership.

Shall not a word be said, too, concerning the millions of men and women in our land who, in discipleship to Christ, are carrying out His teaching office? We rarely read editorials or hear public speeches about the part that the Sunday School teachers are playing in shaping the character of each new generation; but they are in succession to the Rabbi who "made Himself of no reputation." Their reward is not only in their work but alst in the truth which they themselves learn while teaching others. K. Kirk once put this principle in verse in The Sunday School Times:

"I never knew, my Lord,
The beauty of Thy Word:
Its rich and hidden deeps;
The wonders that it keeps
Within the seeker's reach—
Until I came to teach.
Thy Word anew I sought;
In teaching, I am taught!
I never knew, my Lord,
Thy grace so freely poured
Upon the prayer heart,
As striving to impart
From Thee some message sweet
To guide young pilgrim feet,
My cry Thou answerest:
In blessing, I am blessed!"

A Quiet Day At Home.

Somewhere along the Jordan River, in upper Judea, the events of this Lesson occurred. When the first two disciples approached Jesus, He invited them to His temporary lodgings. They went along, and spent a day and a night with Him in His home.

Before this quiet conference even John, the great revealer of intimacies, draws a curtain; just as seclusion veils the real life of millions of other homes, where domestic experiences, of association and conversation, are really the most important events of life. We can only let our imaginations play upon the scene, in some humble, mud-walled dwelling, when the Rabbi gave Himself freely to His two new friends. What did they talw about? How did they sit Where did they sleep and what did they eat? What was said that clinched the allegiance of these two to a discipleship which even death could not break?

President Walter Lingle, of Davidson College, recently wrote a tribute to a friend; and he dwelt beautifully upon the simple, open hospitality of a modest home, and of the influence of its unpretentious Christian atmosphere. Are our homes used enough for the service of our friends, "In His Name?" We can scarcely know a person well until we have fellowshipped with him in our home, or in his. Here we have an example of how the Master used His home in binding friends to Himself.

This group of Galileans who were the first followers of our Lord were a congenial company. They were all neighbors, with the same background as the Master. Their characters and qualities were divergent, it is true; but all alike stepped into new greatness of capacity and of service when they cast in their lives with Jesus. For discipleship to Christ has ever been the mightiest educational force in the world.

The International Sunday School Lesson for January 10 is: "The First Disciples"—John 1:35-49.

CORSICANAN DROVE YOUNG BROTHERS TO FAIRFIELD SUNDAY

Isaac Levy, Corsicana, recounted to a Daily Sun reporter Tuesday his experiences with Jennings and Harry Young Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Levy was en route to Fairfield and the car in which the two men and a Fort Worth insurance man were riding burned out a bearing on the Caney Creek bridge. He said he might have gotten by the car and three men, but the road was practically blocked.

"They offered to pay me well if I would take them to Houston," Levy said, "but I was suspicious of them when the one was hurt did not want to stop in Fairfield and have his wounds dressed," he continued. "I figured maybe they had been into something and started to turn them in to Fairfield officers but decided I might be wrong as I didn't know anything."

"I thought maybe they were going to make me drive them to Houston but didn't, and when I drove off from that filling station in Fairfield, they thanked me for the lift," Levy continued.

Levy said the man in the gray overcoat seemed to have his neck hurt and kept complaining that he believed his spine had been injured. The Corsicanan said he was glad when he left the men at the Fairfield filling station on the highway, and that he was suspicious of the men, thinking at the time they were probably bootleggers or hijackers on the run and had been into trouble.

He said he feared at the time the two men were going to make him drive them to Houston, but when he refused, they did not press the matter, but told him they had to be in Houston Sunday night and would pay him well. "I was afraid of them, and figured they might not pay me when we got to Houston, although they said they had plenty of money to pay me well. I figured the had been into some trouble and was glad to get away from them. I did not want to go to Houston, anyway," Levy continued.

CAR REPORTED STOLEN

Roy Rogers reported his automobile stolen about two miles south of Corsicana Tuesday afternoon while he was working on some tanks under construction by the Magnolia Petroleum Company. No trace of the car had been found by city police early Wednesday.

County Vocational Agriculture Students To Compete in League

KERENS, Jan. 6.—(Spl.)—Navarro county University Interscholastic League is adding a new feature to its county meet in the form of a contest for vocational agriculture students who will compete in dairy judging, livestock judging, poultry and egg juding, plant production contest and public speaking.

At a meeting of vocational agriculture teachers of the Corsicana district Saturday, January 2, it was decided that the executive committee of the county league would be asked to include D. B. Pitts, teacher of vocational agriculture at the State Home at Corsicana, as one of the members of the committee to represent the vocational agriculture department of the league in Navarro county. Mr. Pitts appointed other local teachers of vocational agriculture to assist him with the divisions of the contest.

Thirty-six Hours Downpour Comes to Malakoff District

MALAKOFF, Pan. 6.—(Spl.)—A steady downpour of rain here for the past 36 hours has put all streams of the county out of banks, overflowed some of the land and wrecked some of the bridges of Walnut and other streams, according to reports reaching here.

It is thought not less than 8 or 10 inches of rain fell here during this time. Stock water, which had been low in many places for a long time, is now very plentiful, as all tanks, creeks and branches are overflowing again.

Buses can not run on the highways and about the only travel is by train. Some of the roads through the county are almost impassable, it is said.

FORMAL COMPLAINT ALLEGING FORGERY FILED ON TUESDAY

A formal complaint for alleged forgery was filed by Chris L. Knox, assistant criminal district attorney, against a white man Tuesday morning in connection with the alleged passing of a forged check, drawn on the Liberty State Bank of Dallas and against the Magnolia Pipeline company with the name of Roland Martin, assistant treasurer, signed, according to announcement Tuesday morning.

The accused man was arrested Monday by Constable C. P. Brooks and City Officers Ruf Tickle and Griffin.

Officers stated a check for $57 was passed on P. Samuels and alleged attempts were made to pass checks at K. Wolens, H. Kaufman and J. C. Penney and company establishments here. Officers have two checks, one payable to Clyde Minyard and the other to William Goulett, and believe there are probably other checks out.

It is likely the cases will be submitted to the Navarro county grand jury Wednesday.

A number of business matters held over from the past calendar year will be presented to the legionnaires for final disposal.

AGED WOMAN IMPROVED.

MALAKOFF, Jan. 6.—(Spl.)—Mrs. Mary Dunton, aged 94, thought to be the oldest white resident of this county, who fell at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Geo. W. Arrey, here some time ago, is now able to be up some and it is thought may recover.

TALLAHACHIE RIVER LEVEE BREAKS AND WIDE AREA FLOODED

LATEST BREAK, HOWEVER, EXPECTED TO RELIEVE PRESSURE ELSEWHERE

GLENDORA, Miss., Jan. 7.—(AP)—The flood-swollen Tallahatchie river has torn through the levee at Twilight, Miss., and a blanket of water was spread over Southeasten Taldahatchie county today toward Tippo, Macel, Sharkey and Paynes.

These villages are across the river from Glendora. The break, a gap of 35 feet, though which a 12-foot wall of water burst last night, was expected to relieve the river pressure here and at points south.

As refugees deserted the newly-swamped areas, residents to the north sought the body of a negro farmer, Amos Smith, who was drowned in Cassidy Bayou, north of Webb, yesterday as he attempted to save a herd of 30 mules.

Rivermen estimated between 40,000 and 50,000 acres would be swamped by last night's break at Twilight. Planters took warning and early today were moving 300 tenats from Sharkey plantation, which was under three feet of water.

H. L. Gray, planter, estimated 3,000 persons would be affected by the latest levee crash.

On the west of the river, relief workesr inspecting the Swan Lake Webb and Sumner areas, reported hundreds of stranded refugees in need of food and clothing and said local committees could not hope to relieve them all.

Woman Killed

that the condition of the plane made it impossible for either woman to have escaped instant death.

Shelton made two flights yesterday over the section in which he last sighted the missing plane but rain and clouds over the mountain made it impossible to discern the upper half of the peak on which the plane had crashed.

Woerner, who with his wife, had waited anxiously through forty hours for some word from his daughter, collapsed as he left Shelton's plane. He was taken to a hotel where his wife had received from the Associated Press the first verified report of the fliers' death.

Believed Woman Lost Control Plane

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Bill Moore, Harrisburgh aviator, who located the wrecked plane, piloted by Mrs. Ruth Stewart, in the Tuscaroro mountains about 40 miles west of this city, believes the woman barely hit the trees on top of the mountain and lost control of her machine.

Moore flew over the mountainous region for three hours this morning dipping down to within 50 feet of the ground before he could sight the crumpled wreckage and engine buried in the side of Bowers mountain.

"I was flying along the top of the ridge," he said, "when I saw tree tops mowed off like grass.

"Mrs. Stewart must have been just as high as the mountain. When she came over the top she barely hit the trees, lost control of her ship and it pancaked into the ground on the side.

"She was flying in the fog when she became separated from the plane accompanying her. She must have been bewildered for she had turned clear around and was headed west again."

Bowers Mountain, the rocky, wooded knoll upon which the plane crashed lies in Toboyne and Jackson townships, one of the loneliest and most sparsely settled sections of Pennsylvania, just a few miles north of the broad fertile Cumberland Valey.

It is the second raneg in a long series of ridges north of the Cumberland valley that constitute the foothills of the Allegheny mountains, terror of aviators.

The nearest inhabited village is Centre Square, a cluster of houses along a lonely forest trail from Blain and New Germantown. Most of the territory is owned by the commonwealth as state forest land. It is a favorite section for turkey hunters, trout fishermen and other sportsmen.

RICHLAND CREEK STILL OUT BANKS; CHAMBERS RECEDES

Richland creek was reported still out of banks Thursday morning at the crossing on national highway 75, between Corsicana and Richland, and at point between the highway and Trinity river, but the remaining major creeks were reported back in their banks Thursday afternoon.

Reports reaching Corsicana Thursday were to the effect that Richland was "from hill to hill" Wednesday afternoon.

Chambers creek was back in its banks although still three-quarter bank full Thursday afternoon, while the lesser creeks had fallen considerably.

Richland creek was reported out of banks at the Ward Bridge crossing Wednesday, but had receded to its channel Thursday morning. Traffic was experiencing considerable difficulty at Ward Bridge site. The road from Corsicana west to Dawson was rough Thursday although some traffic was going through. A number of bad mud holes were reported on this route.

Some damage was reported to roads and bridges over the county due to the high water of the past few days, incident to the downpours of Sunday and Monday, but drags and road crews will have the roads in fair condition by this week-end if the present favorable weather conditions continue. Dragging of the roads started Thursday in precinct 4, and it is expected the other roads, both precinct and state, will be in operation during the remainder of the week.

Congress

and practice relating to nationality, citizenship and naturalization—any right now enjoyed by one sex shall be equally available to the other under like circumstances."

The feminists have been fighting many years to get the lawmakers to say that. Miss Maud Younger, veteran legislative chairman of the nationalist women's party, led the group called before today's house immigration committee hearing on this bill.

For the seventh time yesterday, Senator George Norris put through the senate his resolution to abolish the "lame duck" sessions of congress and democratic leaders who run things across the capitol now are for it.

If Norris wins through, the people will have another constitutional amendment to vote on. The proposal is to alter present provisions so that congress will meet each year on Jan. 2, the January succeeding the November elections. The President and Vice-President would take office Jan. 15 instead of March 4.

No statutory limit would remain on any session of congress.

Asks Information On Radio Programs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—A resolution calling for a survey by the radio commission of the extent of commercial advertising programs over the radio was introduced today by Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan.

Six major points for the commission to report on to the senate were proposed:

What information is available in the feasibility of government ownership or operation of radio stations.

To what extent broadcasting facilities are used for commercial advertising purposes.

How the stations are divided by power.

What can be done to control or perhaps eliminate commercial radio advertising.

What is done by other countries.

Whether it would be possible to announce only the names of sponsors of programs.

Congress Smiles

By The Associated Press.

The senate may be all right for some people but Mrs. Florence P. Kahn of California is quite willing to stay out.

This veteran woman representative was jocularly addressed as "Senator" by a fellow member. To her protest, he observed:

"What? you're not out for the senatorship? Why all your delegation seems to be in the running."

"No," said Mrs. Kahn. "I am not. If there's one thing I do know, it's when I'm well off."

There was certainly no ulterior meaning in it but the entire house of representatives was called on to observe the winner of a recent intelligence test.

The victor—conqueror of 150,000 contestants—was Edward F. Pritchard of Paris, Ky. Representative Virgil Chapman of the Blue Grass state stationed the youth in a gallery and then stopped house proceedings to point him out to the members.

At least one senator is willing to admit he doesn't know what a lot of intricate parliamentary rules of procedure are about. Senators Norris and McKellar argued long and strong on which of two pieces of business should come first. Vice President Curtis decided for McKellar.

Arose Senator Ashurst: "Mr. President, I regret to make this statement but it's true. I haven't the slightest idea what this is all about."

He regretted it still more when Mr. Curtis spent five minutes explaining the point.

Relieve Freeport Citizens.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The house rivers and harbors committee today voted to relieve citizens of Freeport, Texas, from a $961,000 bond, guaranteeing baintenance of navigation improvement work in that harbor.

Garner Favors Norris Plan.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Speaker Garner today said he hoped the Norris resolution to change the meeting days of congress and to eliminate the short term would be approved by the house elections committe for president.

The Texan indicated he would favor bringing the resolution up for house action after all economic measures had been voted on.

The resolution, which has been before congrss for yars, was adopted for the sixth time by the senate yesterday and sent to the house.

Rumor Assassin Attempted.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—A report which could not be confirmed circulated in London today saying an attempt had been made on the life of Lord Willingdon, viceroy of India.

The India office did not take the rumor seriously, saying it had received no information regarding an attack on the viceroy and certainly would have been informed instantly if there had been.

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Reports from London today that an attempt had been made on the life of Viceroy Lord Willingdon were described this afternoon as absolutely without foundation.

Contract Awarded For Eleemosynary Dormitories Today

AUSTIN, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Contracts for construction of two dormitories at Texas state eleemosynary institutions were awarded by the board of control today.

The J. E. Johnson Construction Company of Waco will erect a dormitory at the State Home for Dependent and Neglected Children at Waco, the cost to be approximately $30,000. A. M. Campbell of Tyler got the main contract to build a dormitory for the Terrell State Hospital, the improvement to cost approximately $65,000.

BURIAL PLACE FOR YOUNG BROTHERS IS NOT YET DECIDED

ACCORDING TO LAW WIDOW DEAD MEN HAVE FIRST CLAIM ON BODIES

HOUSTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The burial place for Harry and Jennings Young, Missouri desperadoes who died by their own hands here rather than be captured, had not been determined today. An undertaking company, in whose morgue lay the bodies, was attempting to find Mrs. Harry Young, desirous of allowing her to decide where the burial should take place.

Springfield dispatches had said the bodies would be buried here but the undertaking company previously had been informed by a Springfield undertaker he would claim the bodies in behalf of the mother and take them overland to Missouri.

The undertakers here decided that under the law the widow would have the first decision as to what would be done, the mother next, and the sister, Mrs. T. T. Mackey of Houston, after the mother.

Mrs. Harry Young had been sought since before the brothers died by their own pistols in a cottage here Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Deputy Sheriff W. L. Starn of Ozark, Mo., owner of an undertaking establishment there, arrived here today with a hearse ready to take the bodies back, and awaited the outcome of the disagreement. He said he was acting under orders of the elder Mrs. Young.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 7.—(AP)—The bodies of Harry and Jennings Young, killers of six Springfield and Green county officers, will be buried in Houston, Tex., probably today at a private funeral.

The mother of the men, Mrs. J. D. Young, was informed by a daughter at Houston last night over long distance telephone, that the wives of the men wanted them buried in Houston.

The mother protested she wanted the bodies buried here but the daughter, Mrs. T. T. Mackey, insisted on the Houston burial saying, "it's lots better that you remember them as you last saw them."

The decision to bury the bodies in Houston, may prevent the officers of that city from collecting the $1000 rewards offered by the Greene county court, which stipulated the bodies be brought here for positive identification, before the reward is paid.

Rumored Betrayer Received Threats

HOUSTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Newspaper men sought verification this afternoon of reports that J. F. Tomlinson, whose tip led officers Tuesday to the hide-out of Harry and Jennings Young, Missouri desperadoes, had received death threats. Police Chief Percy Heard declined to comment.

"I don't want to talk about it now," he said. "I may have something for you later." He likewise declined to say whether Tomlinson was under police protection. Tomlinson himself could not be reached, his family saying he was not at home.

Rather than submit to arrest, the two slayers of six officers near Springfield, Mo., killed themselves Tuesday in Tomlinson's house here, where they had rented a room the night before.

Tomlinson did not know they were fugitives at the time he accepted them as tenants, but later recognized one man as Harry Young, when he saw the desperado's picture in a newspaper. He reported his fears to police next morning and they surrounded the house.

Although many shots were fired and tear gas bombs hurled into the house, police failed to gain entrance until one of the Young brothers cried, "Come and get us, we're dead!" They were were found in the bathroom, one dead and the other mortally wounded, by their own hands.

Relief Asked

try, was held up to have the lengthy bill read.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Speedy enactment of the two billion dollar reconstruction finance corporation was urged on the senate today by Senator Walcott, republican, Connecticut, to meet a "great emergency."

As the bill was taken up for debate, however, Senator Blaine of Wisconsin, republican independent, renewed his moves of yesterday to force deliberate action. He objected to the usual practice of dispensing with the reading of the voluminous bill. Thirty minutes were taken by this.

Meanwhile, the house adjourned after meeting 30 minutes. The outlook there was for action on the bill early next week.

Leaders of both parties were backing the gigantic relief measure and its senate enactment by tomorrow was predicted. Some hoped for a vote by tonight but this was problematical.

Progress Report Asked of Board

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—A resolution calling on the employment stabilization board to submit a progress report was advocated today by the senate.

Sponsored by Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, it requested information on public works that should be started within the next six years, how far its plans have been prepared and estimates of cost.

The resolution also calls for data on projects for which detailed plans are ready as well as notification of when detailed plans can be completed.

The board, set up last year under a bill sponsored by Senator Wagner, democrat, New York, is composed of the secretaries of treasury, commerce, agriculture and labor. The general purpose is long range planning of government construction.

One of its primary duties is to recommend to the budget bureau and president when, in its judgment, construction work should be started, particularly for unemployment relief.

which were displayed on the capitol steps Dec. 7, when a smaller group under a leadership which included Communists, appeared.

The trekkers arose today after passing a cheerless night on floors of vacant buildings pressed into service to shelter them from a chill rain. Most of them went to bed supperless last night. Nearly all were soaked to the skin and the only bedding hundreds had were rain-sodden blankets.

The crowd rolled into Washington last night unexpectedly, taxing housing facilities of police and welfare workers to the limit.

Stragglers in Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Trucks bearing 571 stragglers from the march of unemployed on Washington came into Pittsburgh today.

One man had frozen feet and many of them were so numb with cold that they were tied to the trucks to keep them from falling off.

The trucks were sent out last night and they followed highways as far east as Ebensburg, Pa. Great containers of coffee and 1,100 sandwiches were taken to give the hungry.

Many of the men were described as ill from exposure and hunger by an aide to the Rev. James R. Cox, leader of the march.

Federal Relief Endorsed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Federal relief for the unemployed was endorsed before the senate manufactures committee today by Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit.

Testifying on bills calling for direct federal appropriations to aid the needy, Murphy added the state government also ought to participate.

He said his city's relief work had been greatly curtailed because of limited funds. He described it as being an "a survival basis."

Walter S. Gifford, head of the president's unemployment relief committee, will appar tomorrow.

Had $1050 In Pocket

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—One of the musicians who participated in the unemployment march today had $1,050 in his pocket.

This was learned when John Cylkouski of Pittsburgh collapsed during the march on the capitol and was taken to a hospital.

The 50-year-old man explained he had been laid off last July and added:

"I had some money. I had saved it and had it in a bank. And then when I found myself out of a job—and I've got a wife to take care of, too—I drew my money out and I've had it in my pockets ever since."

He said he did not come here as a member of the unemployed group but was "working" as a trombone player in the band.

His condition was not considered serious.

INJUNCTION CASE UNDER ADVISEMENT THREE-JUDGE COURT

HOUSTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—An injunction case challenging constitutionality of Governor Ross S. Sterling's restriction of production in the East Texas oil field by martial law was completed here late yesterday and was taken under advisement by a three-judge federal court.

Counsel for both sides were told to submit written briefs within 15 days and a decision shortly after that time was expected. The field, meanwhile, will remain under supervision by the military. It was announced a contempt citation against Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, commandent of the field, would not be disposed of until after disposition of the suit, by which the plaintiffs, E. Constantin and J. D. Wrather, seek to enjoin the governor from controlling production of their wells in the field.

The contempt citation was issued by Judge Randolph Bryant of the eastern federal district of Texas after he had granted the plaintiffs a temporary order restraining General Wolters from enforcing state railroad commission production orders in the field. The general, in his answer, said he had enforced orders of the governor and not those of the commission, since Judge Bryant restrained him. Judge Bryant alone will determine whether there was contempt.

As the case was rested with the court, Circuit Judge J. C. Hutcheson, presiding, remarked from the bench he was inclined to find for the plaintiffs under the present facts he had heard, unless something in the briefs to be filed should change his mind.

Both Judge Hutcheson and Judge Bryant had said yesterday, during arguments in the case, they believed Governor Sterling sent the military to East Texas to regulate production, and not to suppress "riot and rebellion" as he claimed.

The position of Governor Sterling and his co-defendants, Brig. General Wolters and Adjutant General W. W. Sterling, was that martial law was necessary to keep enraged citizens from doing violence to property.

Sterling Not Downhearted

AUSTIN, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Back from Houston where he heard a three-judge United States district court indicate by comment it would find against his contention that martial law was invoked in the Esst Texas oil field to prevent "riot and tumult," Gov. R. S. Sterling was far from downhearted today.

"I do not have any comment to make about the case," he said. "We are prepared to carry the matter up to the supreme court of the United States on apepal should the decision be against us. I presume the plaintiffs feel the same way about it."

The house judiciary committee, meeting this morning, was given for study Patman's resolution to order that an inquiry into the charges be made by the selfsame committee. The house must vote to order that inquiry.

JAPANESE CAPTURE MANCHURIAN GATEWA CITY ON THURSDAY

EXPEDITIONS AGAINST ALLEGED BANDITS CONTINUE TO SPREAD OUT

TIENTSIN, China, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Japanese troops captured the city of Shanhaikwan today, reports from there said.

The city of Shanhaikwan, real gateway from China to Manchuria, stands at the formal boundary line between China proper and Manchuria, about half way between Peiping and Mukden.

It divides with Chinchow the heavy railway and highway traffic along the narrow coastal plain between the mountains of Mongolia and the sea.

At one time Shanhaikwan was the key to all northern China, standing in the shadow of the great wall at its celebrated eastern gate, sometimes called "the first gate of the world."

MUDKEN, Manchuria, Jan. 7.—(AP)—A Japanese headquarters communique today said four expeditions against Chinese irregulars were proceeding in the areas around Bukden, Liaoyang, Hsinmin and Tiehling.

About one company is participating in each, the communique said.

One Japanese and 40 Chinese were killed in a clash five miles north of Liaoyang, it said, when the Japanese scattered 300 bandits. It added that a strong irregular force attacked Tiehling, opened the prison, liberated all prisoners, and set the prison buildings on fire before Japanese forces arrived.

Dale Jackson

flew to a world's refueling endurance record at St. Louis in 1929. The next summer the Hunter brothers broke the record at Chicago. Within a month, O'Brine and Jackson stayed in the air for more than 647 hours, but their effort was not officially recognized.

SWEETWATER, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Forest O'Brine, co-holder of the world's endurance flying record, planned to leave Sweetwater today to attend the funeral of his partner in the record-breaking endurance flight, Dale (Red) Jackson, killed at Miami, Fla., yesterday in an airplane crash.

O'Brine lauded Jackson's ability as a flier, saying that while he indulged in stunting performances he "knews the ifs and ands of flying and was really a great pilot."

St. Louis Gang Leader Indicted For Kidnapings

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Louis Alterie, who has a gangland sobriquet of "Two-Gun Diamond Jack" dating back to his beer selling days, was one of six men reported named in true bills by a grand jury on charges of kidnaping for ransom.

Alterie was arrested and released on bond yesterday in Colorado where he has been conducting a dude ranch. The other five were arrested last week. They are accused of participating in kidnapings which netted them $500,000 in ransoms.

The true bills involve two kidnapings, that of Dr. and Mrs. Max Gecht, and Edward Dobkin, a horse betting commission man.

Gold and Silver Production 1931

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Gold produced in the United States in 1931 totaled 2,365,881 ounces, worth $48,907,100. Silver production was 30,967,618 ounces, worth $8,980,6609.

The director of the mint announced today the 1931 gold production was an increase of $2,755,300 compared with 1930. Silver production dropped 17,670,180 ounces.

The 1931 silver production was valued at 29 cents per ounce, the average New York price of bar silver.

STATE DEPARTMENT FORMULATES REPLY ABOUT SECURITIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—A formal denial came today from the state department of any responsibility for losses the public might have had in buying foreign bonds.

"No foreign loan has ever been made," it said, "which purported to have the approval of the American government as to the intrinsic value of the loan."

In its 2000-word statement which came as a reply to a denunciation by Senator Glass, a Virginia democrat, the department said its simple statement of the absence of objection to a loan could not be considered as approval of it.

The statement came while the senate finance committee was hearing read warnings by former Secretary Kellogg of state, and by S. Parker Gilbert, agent general of reparations in 1927, suggesting that American bankers be cautious in handling foreign loans.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—In a statement outlining its dealings with bankers over a number of years, the state department today formulated a reply to criticism of its relation to the flotation of foreign securities in this country.

Secretary Stimson prepared the statement after a commerce department official had told the senate finance committee how a Bolivian bond issue had been approved by the department because of strained diplomatic relations between that country and this.

Senator Glass, a Virginia democrat, charged the state department was responsible for any losses to the American public because of foreign lending.

The statement of the secretary will include copies of all form letters used during recent years in dealing with bankers on prospective loans to foreign governments for industries.

Meanwhile, a warning by Secretary Kellogg to American bankers in 1926 to study carefully further German loans was read to the senate finance committee.

REPRESENTATIVES OF LEADING CANDIDATES JOCKEY FOR SUPPORT

GOV. ALFRED E. SMITH SAID HE HAD "NO COMMENT TO MAKE"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—Representatives of the leading candidates for the democratic presidential nomination today began to jockey for national committee support as the prohibition question faded out as an issue at Saturday's meeting.

The various movements got started in an atmosphere of outward reticence.

Governor Alfred E. Smith, the 1928 nominee had, "No comment to make."

"I will do my talking tomorrow night at the Jackson Day Dinner," he said. "I don't say anything until then."

Taciturnity also characterized other leaders of the party participating in conferences at the Mayflower hotel and on Capital Hill. But it was clear the forces friendly to Governor Roosevelt of New York or Governor Ritchie of Maryland and others mentioned for the party nomination were missing few chances to have their views understood.

In the atmosphere of silence which has enveloped the various committee groups the representatives of cities seeking the convention have been working quetly but steadily. Chicago, Kansas City, Atlantic City, and San Francisco are all entering strong bids.

MAKE-UP.

Makeup Lessons.

A clever person can make up your face so that you're quite transformed. Take a lesson in makeup if you are not sure how to use it, advises Miss Forbes.

This is the method a skilled attendant uses if you go into any well run beauty shop either for a lesson in makeup or simply to have your face "done." Many women are economizing these days by going to beauty shops only for the cleansing and makeup treatment which costs a third to a half the price of a full facial massage.

The hair being tied back with a towel, leaving the ears free, the face is first thoroughly cleansed with a light cream which is removed with wads of cotton or quantities of tissue. Any hairs that have appeared outside a slender eyebrow line are very quickly removed. The skin is then goes over with a bit of cotton soaked with ether or a lotion made of camphor and alcohol. Then the rouge for the cheek is selected from a box containing half a dozen shades. Naturally every type of woman requires a different tint of rouge. This is shaded on to the cheeks rather high and toward the temples for the usual type of face, but more toward the center for a round face. There are a dozen ways of applying rouge to change or accentuate the shape of the face.

Then the lips are done. If the mouth is attractive the outline is faithfully followed with a lipstick that matches the rouge. If it is a wide mouth only the inner part of it is accentuated with rouge, if the mouth is thin and narrow a "Cupid's bow" is quite calmly painted over it to make it seem fuller and less "pinched-in." The nose is rubbed with a cream which prevents it from growing shiny. Sometimes a long nose is shaded very lightly with pale yellow along the sides. A small nose is made slightly more prominent by being powdered a lighter color. About this time the lobes of the ears are touched up with pink to match the cheeks. Round eyes are then lengthened with triangles of shadow at their corners, small eyes made larger by shading the eyelids, and the lashes and eyebrows touched up.

Miss F.—In most cases a teaspoonful of peroxide to a quart of water would be enough to use as a rinse for light hair, but since your scalp is inclined to be oily, you may safely increase the amount of the peroxide to almost twice that, and have much more chance of bleaching the color without drying out the hair. Shampoo as usual and make the bleaching rinse the final one.

Mrs. J. D. F.—If you wear your hair waved over this in-between period from short to long hair, you will be able to take up enough of the extra length so the effect will not be trying. As it grows, catch up the extra length and clasp strands of it with the pinch clasps that come for this purpose: curl or roll the length that is growing down over the back of the neck. You will have several months of clasping strands and arranging and rearranging the back to keep the head appearing to be as neat as it was when the hair was short and straight. Since straight hair is becoming to you, return to that as soon as you are able to get enough length of hair so you can arrange all of it properly.

Mrs. H.—The warts on little children's hands usually slough off in a short time with no extra attention. Salt rubbed into warts will help to dissolve them, possibly most of the virtue is in the rubbing of the rough grains over the hardened skin. Olive oil, or a similarly softening oil, rubbed into some warts will break up the dry skin particles so they slough off gradually.

New York Cotton Steady.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 8 to 10 points on a renewal of yesterday's buying movement and the steadiness of Liverpool cables. March sold at 6.50.

A further advance in the Bremen market at the opening today was another factor in the rise of 6.85 for July, contracts. The early demand was supplied by southern and local selling which caused partial reactions during the early trading. March sold off to 6.42 and July to 6.77 but the market was steadied by the beter tone of he ock marke and active months were about 2 to 5 points net higher at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables reported general buying in that market with an optimistic feeling as to reparations but said business in Manchester was slow in developing.

Moderate early reactions followed rumors of an easier Bremen market, although the close there was 7 to 10 points higher. Prices locally held very steady late in the morning. At midday March was ruling around 6.45 and July 6.78, or about 3 to 6 points net higher on the general list, with trading quiet.

Future sclosed easy, 1 to 4 points lower. Spot quiet; middling 6.45.

New Orleans Cotton Firm.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The cototh market opened firm with fairly good trading. Liverpool cables were much better than due and foreign news was generally encouraging.

First trades showed gain of 9 to 11 points with much trading up to 6.40 and May to 6.65. After the start the market eased off moderately on realizing and absence of sustained support.

March dropped to 6.43 and May to 6.61, or 4 to 6 points under the opening figures but still 4 to 5 points above yesterday's close.

Near the end of the first hour the market showed a slight reactionary trend.

A report that the European reparations negotiations had broken down and selling in advance of tomorrow's holiday here influenced the market to ease off steadily after the morning rise. March dropped to 6.41, May to 6.58 and July to 6.74, down 7 to 8 points from the early highs but still 2 points above yesterday's close.

ANNUAL MEETING CHAMBER COMMERCE ON FEBRUARY 11TH

AGRICULTURAL EXPERT ADDRESSED DIRECTORS IN MEETING THURSDAY

Date of the annual meeting of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce was set as Thursday, Feb. 11, and the necessary committees for that event named at the regular meeting of the board of directors of the organization Thursday morning. J. M. Symmonds, agricultural agent of the Southern Pacific Lines, addressed the directorate on some of the agricultural problems of the day.

President Ted B. Ferguson appointed an auditing committee composed of E. W. Ellis, chairman; J. H. Roberts and N. S. Roberts, to make the regular examination of the books of the chamber.

A nominating committee was appointed to name eight directors who shall serve a two-year term, starting with the annual meeting, no more than four of whom shall be members of the group retiring from the board.

The committee includes C. C. Roberts, chairman; E. M. Folk, A. B. Douglass, M. R. Thomas and J. M. Dyer Jr.

J. M. Symmonds, agricultural agent of the Southern Pacific Lines, was presented to the board and in his introduction declared that absolute cooperation between merchant and farmer and all other groups was essential to the success of any community. He declared that he was not trying to persuade farmers to stop raising cotton, but he did urge that the acreage be reduced and the price raised to a level that would provide a profit.

Acreage Increase

He then presented statistics to show that since the World war the acreage and production increase had amounted to 32 per cent while the population had only increased 10 per cent, many of the European nations showing gains above 300 per cent in acreage. He declared that cotton acreage had decreased east of the Mississippi and gained west of the river since the war. He declared that for the past year there was a world production of about 27 million bales with a nine million carry-over, giving a present stock of some 36 million bales.

He pointed out that the south in 1930 spent more than a billion dollars in other sections of the the nation for food and feeds that they could have produced much more economically. He declared that not enough butter was produced in Texas to supply the local markets.

Mr. Symmonds declared that the farmers should stop speculating and go to farming to live and provide a living for themselves and families, and not carry on their work strictly for the making of money. He asserted that in communities where a diversification program had become established, the farmers were on a cash basis. He declared that butter could be produced on the farm at 12 cents a pound and marketed at 30 cents, where a farmer produced his own feed and pasturage.

Dairying Profitable

He asserted that Navarro county had large sections of land very suitable to dairying purposes, and in fact anything could be grown with the exception of a few vegetables. It was shown that the milk consumption in Corsicana was only about one-fourth the normal figure. The speaker quoted figures to show that the consumption of milk products in America in the period from 1921-25 increased more than 9,800,000,000 tons.

There are more opportunities in the state of Texas than in any other country in the world, the agent reported, but Texas still imports its black-eyed peas, butter, feeds, tomatoes and fruits. He declared that every dollar made in Texas was sent out of the state.

He outlined creameries, permanent pastures and other similar projects as essentials of success to Navator county. He declared that much labor would be required and that there must be active co-operation with the farmers. He pointed out that an alfalfa curing process was now being perfected that he hoped would be made available to the small farmr. He declared that the farmer could bring the cost of production of livestock dwn by raising his own feeds and providing his own pasturage, he could be a success.

Need Agricultural Agent.

He declared that he knew from experiences in other similar sections what could be done here, and expressed regret that the county did not have an agricultural agent, and proffered his services in every possible manner. He declared that it would take hard work to put any project over but that something had to be done.

In reply to a question, the speaker stated that the farmer could make as much profit from his cream as he could from his whole milk, and the skim milk saved could be used effectively in the production of chickens and hogs. He stated that there were several methods of operation on any of the projects outlined.

He declared in answer to another question that milk production must be built up before a creamery could be established, and recommended that this be done through improving the good grade cows through cross-breeding with good production males.

Onions Profitable.

He declared that there should be a hundred acres planted in onions in Navarro county and said that he could guarantee a market for the crop now. He declared that grain sorghums and orchards could take the place of much of the land formerly used in cotton acreage.

Superintendent Brown of the Blooming Grove schols and Mr. Spencer, vocational agriculture teacher at the same place, reported on some experiments conducted last year with onions and cucumbers, and stated that plans were now being perfected to increase the acreage in the products this year. Mr. Brown declared that people of the county could grow anything that they would attempt.

Mr. Symonds reported that strawberries would make a good crop for some sections of the county, and recounted that in some localities the profit was as high as $375 to $500 per acre.

Among those attending the meeting were J. M. Dyer, Clyde Foster, W. P. McCammon, Joe M. Brown, Henry Gentry, R. J. Jackson, Festus A. Pierce, Lowry Martin, W. O. Harwell, Ted B. Ferguson, C. C. Roberts, W. M. Spear, Robert Cooksey, Messrs. Brown and Spencer of Blooming Grove, and others.

MISSOURI KILLERS CHEAT LAW AFTER BEING SURROUNDED

HARRY AND JENNINGS YOUNG TAKE OWN LIVES IN HOUSTON HOUSE

HOUSTON, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Inquest verdicts holding Harry and Jennings Young killed each other were returned this afternoon by Justice Campbell Overstreet.

The formal, official verdict, as read from his office at 2:08 p. m., said:

"Jennings Young, pistol shot wounds inflicted by Harry Young. Murder."

"Harry Young, pistol shot wounds inflicted by Jennings Young. Murder."

Officers pointed out it never would be known whether they had slain themselves or each other, but Justice Overstreet decided the murder theory was most likely.

The brothers died today rather than surrender to a group of officers who wanted them for the murder of six Missouri peace officers last Saturday.

HOUSTON, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Two brothers, hunted over the Southwest as the slayers of six Missouri officers but driven at last to cover, killed themselves today in accordance with the suggestion of their mother.

She had said in an interview carried in this morning's papers, she hoped they would not allow themselves to be taken alive.

Jennings and Harry Young were found this morning in a small green cottage through the tip of their landlord to police. They had gone there last night, their identity then being unknown to the owner of the house, while police patrolled every section of the city for them. They had been sought since the slaying of the officers near Springfield, Mo., last Saturday.

Police Chief Percy Heard led a squad to the cottage and surrounded it. A police lieutenant went to the door and rattled the knob with his fist.

A shot answered him so he returned the pistol fire, as did Heard.

Other officers began shooting tear gas into the cottage, retiring to the lawn as they did so.

Three shots within the house were heard.

"We are dead; come and get us," one of the brothers called out. Then three other shots were heard.

Heard and another officer smashed the bedroom door but were forced out by the tear gas. Later, they got masks and went in. Jennings was dead. Harry was mortally wounded. He died a little later in a hospital.

Had Kept Watch.

"The killers had been occupying a front bedroom, doubtless using it as a lookout place," said Lieutenant Claude Beverley.

"When we first got there we started into the hall and met a man coming out and took him into the house with us. He turned out to be a visitor to the house, who didn't know the kind of torpedoes who were on hand there.

"Well, then, we knocked on the front bedroom door. Chief Heard stayed at the front door and later Lieutenant George Peyton and I went to the back bedroom door.

"We opened it and tiptoed in. We went to the door that connected the bedroom with the bathroom. We unlatched the bathroom door. The door was open 1 a little way and we jumped back into the hall.

Three shots were fired and then one of the Young brothers peeped out of the bathroom.

"I fired one time with a sawed off shotgun."

Shots Not Effective.

The officers believed none of the shots they fired could have struck the brothers.

Harry Young had been shot twice with a pistol; Jennings three times.

The tip that led to discovery of the killers came from the owner of the house, J. F. Tomlinson, this morning.

Wandering about in his home half dazed as negroes cleared the wreckage, he said he rented the bedroom to the Youngs—they gave him other names, of course—yesterday.

"About 10:30 last night I was reading the paper," he said, "and I saw Harry Young's picture. I recognized him as the man who rented my room. I took my wife and daughter away from there last night, and this morning I told the officers."

A. P. Singleton, the painter who had gone to the house not knowing who might be found there, complained that the officers used him as a shield. He said that he was "mighty scared".

Trail Picked Up At Streetman.

The fugitives' trail was picked up Sunday at Stretman, Texas, when the overturned automobile in which they had fled from Springfield, Mo., was found beside a highway. In it were a rifle and shotgun.

Who men who crawled from the wreck accepted a farmer's offer to right their car, but while he was going for a team of mules, they deserted the car and continued their flight south. Before leaving they took the Missouri license plates from the car and hurled them into a field.

Officers learned the fugitives were picked up by the driver of a roadster. The car passel the men as they stood by the road, then turned back and after a brief conversation, the men boarded the car and were driven away.

Widespread Manhunt.

Suspicions that the men were the slayers sought in the Springfield massacre resulted in officers throughout Texas organizing a manhunt.

The search turned to Houston yesterday when police learned that a man answering the description of Harry Young had visited the home of his mother-in-law to see his wife. Young took a bus to the suburban ship channel after being informed that his wife was not at the house.

Police combed the Houston underworld and all hideouts in the vicinity of the ship channel without being able to apprehend either of the Young brothers. It was feared they had stowed away on a ship and slipped through the drag net.

Heavy guards were posted at all Gulf ports and along the Mexican border to prevent the fugitives leaving the country.

Man and Woman Die At Kilgore Grade Crossing

LONGVIEW, Jan. 7.—(AP)—A grade crossing accident today took the lives of A. Z. Rodgers, Oil City, La., drilling contractor and oil operator, and his mother, Mrs. J. Rodgers, 70.

The automobile in which they were riding was demolished by a passenger train at a crossing four miles west of Kilgore. Heavy fog was blamed for the accident.

Rodgers' wife had left the party shortly before the wreck to visit a daughter residing near Kilgore.

Rodgers had moved to the East Texas oil field from Oil City about six months ago, establishing his headquarters at Gladewater.
